CHAMBERLAIN IN PARIS FOR TALK WITH OFFICIALS

Arrives Just After Announcement of New French-German Agreement.

PARIS (AP) Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Halifax reached Paris for a visit soon after announcement was made of a new French German agreement to decide future disputes in consultation rather than war

The British statesmen coming for talks expected to result in a virtual military alliance with France were cheered for several minutes by crowds at Saint Lazare station

Premier Daladier and Foreign Minister Bonnet met the visitors together with Sir Eric Phipps the British ambassador

Chamberlain and Daladier then drove off in the same auto to the British embassy

The French-German understanding a development European statesmen have been awaiting as a possible cornerstone on which to build European peace and collaboration complements a British German anti-war accord signed at Munich Sept 30 by Chancellor Hitler and Chamberlain

The new accord goes farther however by recognizing formally the present French German frontier

In other words Hitler will promise again in writing that Germany lays no further claim to Alsace Lorraine provinces returned to France by Germany after the World war and over which the two countries have fought thru their history

RAILROADS DENY LIABILITY

Asked to Return $175,000 for Switching Charges

While a case submitted to the supreme court at its Wednesday session concerned only a claim for $318 19 the eventual disposition of the merits of the controversy will have to do with the question of whether Nebraska railroads will retain or repay $175 000 alleged to have been unlawfully collected by them when they charged livestock commission firms 47 cents a car from switching cars of livestock from their lines to the stockyards None of the companies has rails leading into the yards and the switching is done by a terminal company

The reparations claimed cover a period from June 1927 to October 1932 Since the last date the railroads have absorbed all of the switching charge so that no further issue of this kind can arise The state railway commission is in the case only by counsel who filed a brief as a friend of the court and seeks to have affirmed its order that the railroads repay commission firms 47 cents a car The case is brought in the name of the Farmers Union commission company and others

The interstate commerce commission held a concurrent hearing on claims for reparations on interstate shipments and denied them The railroads contend that as that commission fixed intrastate rates that decision bars recovery They also say that the state commission approved in advance the rates collected and cannot now order a part of the sum collected thereunder be repaid even under the reparations statute Many other law points are involved

HEARS ARGUMENTS.

The supreme court heard arguments Wednesday on the appeal of Dr A L Miller from a Banner county district court decision that the commissioners of that county had properly disallowed his claim for medical treatment given a pauper taken to his Kimball county hospital for treatment The doctor who is also a state senator contended that a county is liable for such treatment wherever given as otherwise many counties having no resident physician or hospital, the burden of caring for its paupers would be shifted to neighboring counties that can give such attention Banner county insists the patient claimed Kimball county as his legal residence and that the statutory obligation to provide medical care and attention to nonresident paupers ceases when the pauper is removed to the county of his residence The bill is $193

Student Lawyers, Engineers Renew Rivalry in Battle of Words, Fists

Long dormant animosity between law and engineering college students of the university broke out anew on the campus Wednesday morning with several fists thrown and any number of names called before professors intervened to quell the disturbance

The incident that harkening back to bygone years of bitter rivalry between the two colleges was brought on when upperclass law students allegedly disturbed a group of engineers who were taking an examination in the law building

Law students explained that as customary the freshman class was taking its pre Thanksgiving mock examination and upperclassmen were singing in the hall knocking on registers and otherwise creating as much disturbance as possible to deter the embryo lawyers from concentration on the examination when the professors of the engineering class objected to the noise

The lawyers apparently reasoning that there should be no interference with a custom as old as the law college refused to subside (The mock examination has no bearing on freshmen grades)

It took nothing more than the refusal to subside to bring out the engineering class en masse Law students joined into the argument Words would not suffice and fists were brought into play That ended it Professors intervened and students went back to their classes

BILL FOR BEER AND ALCOHOL TURNED DOWN

Court Holds Firm Doesn't Have to Pay for It as Medical Treatment.

District Judge Chappell ruled in the case of Elmer Swenson, employe of the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power company injured in 1930, that beer and alcohol costing $454.50 used by Swenson, were not required as medicines for treatment of his condition and hence the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power company, under the compensation law, does not have to pay for them.

Swenson, who fell from a scaffold at 9th and K streets on April 4, 1930, and broke his back, and who had received compensation and a partial compensation settlement, claimed that 65 cases of beer costing $113.75 and 47 gallons of drinking alcohol costing $340.75 consumed by him were required for medical treatment. In a supplemental petition he sued for the amount.

The court says beer and alcohol were not prescribed as medicine by the physician in charge of the case and this was not a reasonable and necessary medical expense chargeable to the power company, under the Nebraska compensation law. Other medical expense has been allowed and $30 a month is being paid to him for life for a special treatment required by his condition.

Contract Bridge.

BY ELY CULBERTSON.

[Copyright 1938 By Ely Culbertson.]

LAST WEDNESDAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 34: You are West, declarer at a six spade contract. The opponents did not bid. North opens the diamond queen. Your hand and dummy are as follows:

WEST [You]	DUMMY
♠ A J 9 6 5	♠ K 9 4
♥ K J 5	♥ A Q 4 3
♦ A K	♦ 8 4
♣ Q 10 6	♣ A K J 8

As declarer, what are your plays at the second and third tricks?

Answer: The only perceptible danger in this hand is that you may lose two trump tricks. Hence, correct planning involves a safety play in trumps. At the second trick you should lay down a spade ace; at the third trick you should lead a low spade and, if North follows suit, should play dummy's nine spot [unless, of course, North plays the ten or queen]. For full explanation of this safety play see today's hand below. [No demerit for improper play, but take 25 points credit for playing as prescribed.]

Question 35: Both sides vulnerable. You deal and hold:

♠ A Q J 10 9 ♥ 7 ♦ A Q 10 9 5 3 ♣ 9

What call do you make?

Answer: You should bid one diamond. When choosing between a six and five card suit, the longer should be bid first, regardless of the rank of suits. By starting with one diamond, then bidding and rebidding spades, partner is clearly advised that you have six diamonds and five spades. [Eighteen points demerit for one spade; 50 points demerit for any other bid, including an opening two bid.]

TODAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 40: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. You deal and hold:

♠ Q 10 8 5 ♥ A K 10 8 6 2 ♦ 7 3 ♣ 4

What call do you make?

Question 41: Only East-West are vulnerable. North-South have 40 part score. The bidding proceeds:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	2 clubs	2 spades

You are South and hold:

♠ 10 6 3 ♥ A Q 9 ♦ K Q J 9 8 ♣ 6 2

What call do you make?

TODAY'S HAND.

East, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ Q 10 7 2
♥ 9 7 2
♦ Q J 10
♣ 9 5 2

WEST
♠ A J 8 6 5
♥ K J 5
♦ A K
♣ Q 10 6

EAST
♠ K 9 4
♥ A Q 4 3
♣ A K J 5

♥ 10 8 6
♦ 9 7 6 5 3 2
♣ 7 4 3

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

This hand formed the basis of Question 34. North opens the diamond queen. It must be immediately apparent to declarer [West] that his contract depends only on holding his trump loss to one trick. If the trumps are well split, any method of play will be safe. But if by chance North holds four trumps, including the queen and ten, ordinary methods of play will be ineffectual. The safety play against this possibility involves laying down the spade ace, then, if both opponents follow, leading a low spade, and if North follows with a low card, to play dummy's nine spot. Note that this guards against every division of trumps except a 5-0 split. As the cards are placed, dummy's nine holds the trick, and the king then captures one of North's honors, leaving only one loser.

Suppose it were South who held the four spades to the queen-ten. In that case, North would show out on declarer's second trump lead. Dummy, of course then would play the king and would lead the nine spot through South, who could make one trick only with his queen-ten because West's jack still would be intact. I advise readers to lay out the missing Q 10 7 3 2 of spades in all possible combinations between the North and South hands and note for themselves that the recommended play cannot lose [except the unimportant overtrick] and does gain if North holds both honor cards doubly guarded.

Tomorrow's Hand

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

CROP JUDGES ARE SECOND

Drop Close Decision in Kansas City Event.

Dropping a close decision and placing second in a regional crops judging contest at Kansas City, the Nebraska college of agriculture crops team lost in an attempt to annex the two championships won there and at Chicago last year. The Nebraskans still have a chance at the national intercollegiate crops judging title when they compete at Chicago this week end in the national contest.

Dr. A. L. Frolik, team coach and agronomy professor at the agricultural college, sent word that the team received silver medals and a $50 scholarship, however, for the high ranking at Kansas City. Harold Schudel, North Loup, was fourth individual in the contest. Rundall Peterson, Grant, was 9th, and David McGill, Waverly, 14th. The Nebraska team ranked first in grain grading, fourth in identification and seventh in judging. Schudel was first in grading and McGill second.

Continuing on to Chicago for the national contest in connection with the International livestock show, the Nebraskans will attempt to win the national championship for the second consecutive year. In the past nine years Nebraska teams have won at Chicago three times.

THANKSGIVING IN SCHOOLS

Varied Programs Wednesday in Honor of Day.

Most of the Lincoln schools had Thanksgiving parties and other seasonal observances Wednesday as a sendoff for a week end of vacation. Typical of the observances were those in Capitol and Saratoga schools, whose programs are given in detail.

At Saratoga, kindergarten children sang appropriate songs and witnessed pictures of old time and modern Thanksgiving celebrations. Joan Cable played the accordion. Second and third grade songs and dramatizations were followed by a similar program for the elementary grades with fifth graders in charge. At Capitol, pupils met in the assembly room at 11 a. m. midst decorations of flowers and ferns. The program consisted of songs, stories, dramatizations and poems connected with the Thanksgiving idea.

Europe a Place of Fear, Declares Miss Marie Smits; Real Trenches Were Sunk in Hyde Park, England

A tale of underlying tenseness and depression among the German people was told by Miss Marie Smits, who, recently returned from an 18 months' European trip, spent part of September in Germany, when the crisis was at its height. Asked of the reaction of the Jews to the Hitler regime, Miss Smits said, "The Jews did not dare to talk. Not even in a public restaurant could they be free from the fear of espionage. They were told to believe what the newspapers printed."

Miss Smits was surprised to learn that many of the Jews in Germany believed that France and England wanted war. One Jewish woman said to the American tourist, "Why do France and England want to go to war again?"

In Miss Smits' opinion the laboring man in Germany has no complaint under the present government, but the free thinking man is given no room to expand. Genius is hampered because of the lack of self expression allowed him by the reich. Every industry and every profession is controlled by the government.

One day is set aside when every German family goes without dinner and the money is given to the poor. There are no beggars and no unemployed in Germany, according to Miss Smits.

"The German people did not want war," Miss Smits said, "but they kept their opinions to themselves."

The American woman, traveling alone, was suspiciously regarded when entering the German border, since her visa had expired without her knowledge. Taken into custody by the German police, she found herself in a "tight place" until, when the officer asked her what she did for an occupation, she said, "Just live." The answer brought a real chuckle from the stern officer and the tension was relieved. She was allowed to go on her journey without interference.

Miss Smits left Bruges, Belgium, for England the day (Sept. 28) referred to as Black Wednesday, in Europe. All taxis had stopped running, and when the traveler finally arrived at the station with her bags, she was crowded into a train among hundreds of soldiers.

"If the American people think that Europe was not really preparing for war," said Miss Smits, "they are mistaken. Real trenches were dug in Hyde Park, England. Prayers for peace were constantly being offered." Miss Smits was much disappointed in Venice. "The city of gaiety and glamour, of which I had always heard, is no more," she said. "The people are in a bad state. Children are undernourished and sad."

Of the Italian people, she said, "They seem to have a real love of Mussolini." Miss Smits, who is of San Francisco, is the house guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Gladys Smits, superintendent of Lincoln General hospital.

Try this unique Vitamin food

THESE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS TELL YOU WHAT YOU WANT TO KNOW:

1 Is there any need for most of us to take any vitamins besides those we get in our meals?

Yes. Many studies indicate that a large proportion of the people are getting fewer vitamins than they should, to be in splendid health.

2 How can I tell whether I need extra vitamins?

If your colds are severe and "hang on," you very likely need more Vitamin A.

If you are nervous, irritable and have poor digestion, B is often needed.

Plenty of Vitamin D is essential for the proper use of calcium and phosphorus, which are necessary for strong bones and hard teeth.

Tiring easily, too early aging may be due to a shortage of Vitamin G.

3 Do some people eat extra vitamins and not feel improvement?

Yes. Slow digestion may prevent their assimilating the vitamins properly.

4 How can poor vitamin assimilation be helped?

Slow digestion can often be quickened and stimulated by eating Fleischmann's new High-Vitamin Yeast, so that the vitamins are used by the body more quickly and completely. In this way yeast acts as a "booster" for the vitamins.

Further, science has discovered that unless all of the factors of the Vitamin B "complex" are present, it is impossible to secure normal nutrition. All of these factors are available to you in Fleischmann's new High-Vitamin Yeast.

5 Do I need an equal amount of each of these vitamins?

No. The number of units needed varies greatly, as you will see below.

6 Do I need all these vitamins every day?

Yes. To keep yourself well supplied, it is safest to take all these vitamins daily.

7 How much of my vitamin requirement will two cakes a day of Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast give me?

It will give you, with your meals, more than the recognized minimum requirements of A, B and D.

6200 units of Vitamin A
200 units of Vitamin B_1
800 units of Vitamin D

and gives you a very rich amount, 100 to 120 units, of Vitamin G.

8 Won't these extra vitamins every day cost me more than I can afford?

They will cost you only 6¢ a day at your grocer's, if you get them in Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast.

Read the great number of vitamin units now in Fleischmann's new HIGH-VITAMIN Yeast

2 cakes a day give you
Vitamin A 6200 Units
Vitamin B_1 200 Units
Vitamin D 800 Units
Vitamin G 100-120 Units

All the average person needs (in addition to his meals) of A, B and D, and a rich supply of the vitality vitamin G.

Fleischmann's Yeast gives you more than just Vitamins . . .

Fleischmann's High-Vitamin Yeast helps stimulate slow digestion, increase the flow of the digestive juices in the stomach.

This better digestion helps you make fuller use of the vitamins you eat. It "boosts" their assimilation.

Don't eat vitamins and fail to get their full good.

Eat your vitamins in this effective way—in Fleischmann's new High-Vitamin Yeast.

Attorneys for the Omaha Steel Works asked the supreme court Wednesday for a rehearing of the case in which that tribunal held that because Thomas A. Micek was able to tend bar and was earning more wages than when employed by the works that was no reason for denying him compensation for total and permanent disability. The attorneys say that the court, in rendering that decision, disregarded repeated holdings of the past that an injured worker is not totally disabled as long as he can perform a substantial amount of labor.

Johns chairman, served dinner at tables decorated with Thanksgiving favors and lighted candles.

District Judge Broady Wednesday sustained the city's motion to dissolve the restraining order granted to Vernon W. Goodwin to prevent the city from making an award for several motorcycles for the police department to a firm other than that represented by Goodwin. Goodwin claimed he was lowest bidder and should have had the award from the city council, and said the specification providing that there must be a 78 inch piston displacement was arbitrary and intended to prevent competition with the firm receiving the bid. The court ruled that the specification was not arbitrary but justifiable and not intended to prevent competition.

District Judge Shepherd gave George B. Wilson judgment against the Capital Fire Insurance company Wednesday for $4,990.74 and the company must pay $600 attorney fees. Wilson had a policy with the company covering an automobile, and on Oct. 15, 1933 was in a collision. Both Henry Heineman and his wife, Bertha, sued him and she recovered $5,000 which was paid by the defendant company. Henry Heineman obtained a judgment in district court of $4,000. A rehearing was asked of the supreme court Wednesday by J. S. Bowker, one of the two claimants to the office of water commissioner of the city of Kearney. Bowker won in district court in the contest initiated by C. Edwin Swan, his opponent at the election, but the supreme court, after looking over disputed ballots, sustained the county court, which first heard the case, that the vote was a tie. Bowker's attorneys say that the supreme court said in the opinion that it agreed with the trial court that Ballot No. 7 (for Bowker) was properly rejected when in fact the trial court held it to be a valid vote. This ballot had the names of the election judges written thereon, but the voter had drawn a blue pencil mark around the name of one of them. It is pointed out that the court allows to be counted another ballot that had been written opposite Swan's name "this one," and the attorneys argue that either both should be counted or both rejected. In either event Bowker would win by one vote.

JUSTICE DAY DIES

"very much shocked." "He was a great judge, a fine gentleman, and a fine friend of mine. The state has lost an able jurist and should have had his services for many years to come."

Chief Justice Simmons said, "I learned of the death of Judge Day with deep sorrow. Judge Day, was a diligent student of the law, and his decisions, many of them upon important issues, were marked with a clarity and directness that well reflected the operations of his mind.

He was much interested in organization work of the profession, being a member of the American, Nebraska, Douglas county and Lancaster county bar associations. At the time of his death he was chairman of the resolutions committee of the American Bar association, a position he had held since 1935. He was president of the Nebraska Bar association in 1934.

Other organizations, too, claimed his attention. A former grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias in Nebraska, he was a Mason and a Shriner and an Elk. He belonged to the Miller-Parks Presbyterian church in Omaha. He also held membership in Gamma Eta Gamma, National Probation association, the Lincoln Country and University clubs.

Justice Day was born Feb. 3, 1889, at Westboro, Mo., and came to Nebraska with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Day, 48 years ago. The family settled in Boone county near Albion, where the justice's father became a large scale farmer and stockman.

The jurist went thru elementary school in Boone county and graduated from Albion high school in 1907. He obtained three degrees from Creighton university: His A.B in 1911, his A.M. in 1913, and his LL.B. in 1914. Omaha university conferred on him the degree of doctor of laws in 1934 for notable service as a jurist and educator in the law.

Began Practice in 1914.

A democrat in politics, he was admitted to the bar at Omaha May 5, 1914 and became a district judge there Nov. 10, 1920. He was elected associate justice of the supreme court on Jan. 3, 1929.

Surviving are his widow, three sons, his mother and a brother. The widow is the former Neva Emma Grimwood, whom he married April 10, 1916 at Oxford Junction, Ia. The sons are Frank, 20, a student at the University of Nebraska; Robert G, 17, a student at Lincoln high school and L. B., jr., 6. His mother, Mrs. Sarah Day, lives at Albion and his brother, Rowan, in Missouri.

Justice Day went thru life without any given names—just the initials—L. B. His son will carry on the tradition.

As a district judge in Omaha, Justice Day gained reputation as an authority on domestic relations. He sat as domestic relations court judge for six years, governing his actions on the effect of divorce of children of the estranged couple.

Once he threatened to step down from the bench and punch a man who had appeared several times on charges of beating his wife.

"If you don't think I can do it step back in the cloakroom and find out," Judge Day told the man.

His challenge was not accepted.

RE-ENACT A CRIME

Melvin Kittel, 34, saelsman who has been her companion frequently in recent weeks.

Betty Murdock, 48, Negro maid was quoted by Gallagher as saying:

"She (Mrs. Burckhalter) took him into the garage about noon. It was raining hard and the master was shaking, he was so weak. When she came back it was 3:40 p. m. by the kitchen clock. I said to her 'What you doing with that sick man in that cold garage? Want him to catch pneumonia?'

"'He's all right, Betty,' she said to me. 'He's in the car and I closed all the doors and windows and stuffed them with papers. He won't be in the draft. Just don't disturb him.'

"I wanted to go see how he was doing but she told me not to, so I didn't.

"I've worked in this house for 21 months and I never saw him fight with anyone. He'd take a bottle of liquor, lie down on a couch, and bother nobody.

"When he'd have a few drinks I'd get down on the floor and read the Bible to him. After I read a while he'd ask me to sing, and I'd croon a few hymns to him. I liked that man and I don't like the idea of his boys saying he was a regular devil in his cups."

FINGERPRINTS REGISTERED

One of Every 130 in Country Submitted.

WASHINGTON. (AP) Americans are becoming fingerprint conscious. Justice department officials estimated that one out of every 130 persons in the United States has voluntarily submitted fingerprints to the federal bureau of investigation. Additional cards are arriving at the rate of 2,000 per day. The civil indentification file, not to be confused with the criminal records, was started by Director J. Edgar Hoover in 1933 to aid in identifying accident victims or persons suffering from loss of memory. Hoover said 400 dead persons were identified between Jan. 1 and Oct. 31 from 1,254 fingerprint impressions sent in for examination.

CHICAGO MARKET TIED UP

animals remaining and the exchange voted unanimously to suspend trading over the Thanksgiving holiday.

He declined to forecast what action would be taken Friday.

The American federation of labor handlers were reported considering a proposal that they break the C. I. O. picket line and attempt to handle the market. Normally some 600 handlers are employed and the C. I. O. union recently won a majority in an election to determine a bargaining agent with the Union Stockyard & Transit company which handles all shipments into the Chicago market.

Ben Brown, president of the C. I. O. local, threatened to extend the strike to the entire packing industry if any attempt is made to break the strike.

WASHINGTON. (AP). The labor department said it had assigned W. H. Rodgers, Des Moines, conciliation commissioner, to assist in attempting to settle the strike of union employes of the Chicago Stockyards company.

CLAIMS AMERICANS HELD

Abraham Lincoln battalion, he testified, is part of the brigade.

The witness expressed the opinion the state department had many letters and reports from Spain substantiating his testimony.

"It is true," he asserted, "that communists have enlisted men for the international brigade. I do not criticize them for it. I believe the cause is just and worth while.

"What I criticize is what they did to these boys when they got on the other side. They took away their passports, presumably to keep them safe, but actually to prevent any anti-Stalinist from getting out of Spain. If they came back and told what they had seen, it would have reflected on the communists."

WASHINGTON. (AP). Secy. Ickes called Representative Dies (d., Tex.) the world's "outstanding zany" and said hearings being held by Dies' committee on un-American activities were the most "outrageous that have ever been pulled off."

Asked at a press conference for comment on testimony given before the committee by Alice Lee Jemison, Washington representative of the American Indian federation, who charged that Ickes and the Indian commission under him were influenced by communists, the secretary declared there was "no police judge in the United States" who would receive testimony in the manner accepted by Dies, chairman of the committee.

MAGUIRE ENJOINED

week the latter refused to relinquish the office.

The petition points out that the court duties involve the trial and adjudication of cases involving civil controversies up to $1,000 and criminal cases as provided by statutes and ordinances of the city of Lincoln. It is contended that but for the alleged unlawful acts of Judge Maguire the court would continue to function normally without confusion or difficulty, and it is alleged that all Maguire's official acts since Nov. 22, at 11 a. m. are illegal and void, and that irreparable injury will result to the state of Nebraska, the public and persons and parties having business in the court unless Maguire is immediately enjoined from interferring. It is asked that Fisher be declared to be lawfully holding the office and that Maguire be ousted.

Francis V. Robinson and Bert Overcash, assistant attorneys general appeared for the state. Appearances as friends of the court were entered by 18 attorneys:

Palmer McGrew, Robert A. Nelson, Fred J. Cassidy, Joseph Carlott, Keith Turner, Dwight Dahlman, Joseph Ginsberg, Paul W. White, Beghtel, Foe & Rankin, Guy C. Chambers, H. A. Spencer, William F. Malechultat, Sterling Mutz, Jack DeVoe, LeRoy G. Stohlman, Robert Stauffer, Frank L. Barrett, George Healey.

FEW HOMES VACANT

date possession; 39 percent are in fair condition, needing only a bit of cleaning or painting, and 23 percent are in a rundown condition.

The report issued by the committee stated that the survey showed that Lincoln has not been overbuilt and has always maintained a splendid record as regard vacancies. Even during 1933 the percentage then rose only to approximately 4 percent.

The results are further evidence, stated Theobald, that property owners are not convinced that the only way to make a property pay is to put it in good condition. During the depression's low point only 10 percent of the homes could be called in good condition. Wednesday's report of 38 percent ready for occupancy means an increase an increase of nearly 400 percent.

An unusual amount of remodeling, painting and cleaning up has taken place this year.

At only one other time were there so few vacancies, that being 1935's survey which showed 174 homes. The record by years:

1927	389	1932	295
1928	265	1933	432
1929	300	1934	No Survey
1930	253	1935	174
1931	No Survey

There were no surveys made in 1936 or 1937.

Blanchard Anderson and C. C. Kimball assisted Mr. Theobald in the preparation of the survey report.

HOME AID APPROVED.

Nebraska, statewide, free home assistance, $312,600.

Madison, prepare history record cards on teachers, $2,724. Howard county, cut timber for free distribution to the needy, $15,000.

(This action does not necessarily mean the projects will be carried out. After projects have been approved by the president they may be executed at the discretion of the state WPA administrator.)

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE BAD BREATH

Millions Suffer Without Knowing!

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others can! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing can't get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tarnish, stain and odor—dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new.

Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities, Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of delighted users. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store.

POLIDENT
CLEANS, PURIFIES LIKE MAGIC
Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 15 minutes—Rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!

Your Problems

BY MARY GORDON.

Dear Mary Gordon: I have been going with a young man, Tom, for more than two years and I think a lot of him.

Also, I thought a lot of my best girl friend of three years standing, Alice. Every time Alice came to visit me, Tom and I would get another fellow for a double date. If we couldn't find a date for Alice we took her with us. I thought I was being generous by asking Tom to drop Alice off at her home after he'd left me—it was on his way.

A few days ago one of Tom's friends came to tell me I have been getting a raw deal—that Alice asks Tom to take her places and that she has been on "necking" parties with him.

I called Alice and told her what I thought of her and of Tom. She said in that case she would not visit me again and she would not speak to Tom. I assured her there was no need for both of us to cut Tom, and since I certainly was cutting him cold, she might as well carry on.

Should I forget everything and apologize to Alice for accusing her? Tom's family all seem to like me a lot, especially his mother who has made me her confidante about her son. If he wants me back, shall I consent? His dad runs around a great deal. Will Tom turn out to be like his father?

Before meeting Tom, I went regularly with a boy who lives in this community. He is an only child. No reason for quitting him—just that Tom came into my life. I have a chance to resume where we left off. Should I do it, and try to forget Tim? Both would provide me a nice home. I am enclosing my picture so that you may get some idea of what I am like. Thanks.—Me.

A. It hardly seems a good idea to apologize to either Alice or Tom. If they were taking advantage of your good nature and trusting disposition, it is they, not you who should take that action.

It is hardly fair to predict what a son will be like from his father's habits, tho of course a son with an admirable father is usually a better man. But sometimes a son becomes so disgusted with a loose morated father that he becomes the other extreme.

You don't seem to need to be in any great rush to pick out any one man, judging from your picture. You are young and attractive enough not to be obliged to pick up the first man you meet, for fear of missing matrimony.

Stuffed Pork Chops.

For stuffing, pork chops should be cut thick, and the pocket should be made by cutting into the chop from the side next to the bone. When cut in this way no toothpicks will be needed to hold in the dressing, as the membrane on the bone side of the chop contracts upon heating and closes the pocket. Pork chops after stuffing, are browned on both sides in a hot skillet, a small amount of liquid added, the pan covered, and the chops cooked slowly until done. It is very important that pork chops be cooked very slowly until thoroly done, in order to develop a rich, delicious flavor.

SEEKS UNION FOR IRELAND

De Valera's Party Urges End to Partition.

DUBLIN. (AP). The 13th annual convention of Premier De Valera's fianna fail party Tuesday approved a resolution demanding that the government "use every means in its power to end the partition" of northern Ireland and Ireland. The vote was taken after De Valera had spoken against a movement to declare "Eire (Ireland) a free and independent republic."

The premier advised the 1,000 delegates not to rush into a position from which there would be no retreat, and he recommended waiting to declare a republic "when we have the whole of Ireland in on it."

Speaking cautiously, he said the ground had been properly prepared now for getting the whole of the Irish people in Ireland and thruout the world to work for an end of the partition which now divides Ireland into the former Irish Free State and Northern Ireland.

"Dedicated to the people of Nebraska and to the development of the resources of the state."—Sept 1, 1867.

There is no place like Nebraska.

UNREMEMBERED FACTS.

William Allen White is much concerned, as are many others who wish to see democracy preserved, over the "gimmes" in the field of special privilege, and he refuses to make any distinction between those who claim special privileges in the amassing of wealth—meaning the favors of government thru favoring legislation—and those who are intent on getting from the same source the largest pension they can secure. The mental attitude of the former we long ago learned by reason of their zeal in demanding privileges that were not open to all others, but the mental attitude of the latter is something new. Both groups, says Mr. White, are menaces to the perpetuity of democratic government because their demands spring from the same impulse, personal security regardless of the rights and privileges of others.

The mental attitude of the pensioners is the result of ceaseless pounding along one line, their self interest, their right to security, and the worthlessness to them personally of constitutional guarantees. At a recent meeting of a Townsend club one of the speakers bluntly told members that freedom of the press meant nothing to them, because none of them owned a newspaper, a printing press or a font of type. Neither the spokesman nor his eager listeners thought to look toward Germany, Russia or Italy, where there is no freedom of the press, to discover whether a free press is a protection to individual interest.

One does not need to own a newspaper to share in the benefits of free press. It is the medium thru which unfiltered and uncensored news and opinion are communicated to the people, and its preservation is necessary to the individual citizen because it insures to him personal political freedom, without which he cannot have personal economic security. A censored press is the one instrument by which tyrants can subject their people to their personal rule, and the history of depotisms always has been that a people which surrenders its political rights, which includes freedom of the press and of speech, is the least secure of all nations.

Teachings of the type named harm their intended beneficiaries immeasurably. It is quite true "nobody can eat the constitution," meaning that it is not the bread upon which man can alone survive, but it is equally true that without its guarantees no permanent personal economic security is possible.

PURE BLOOD STREAMS?

An Italian official statement says Italians are "Aryan, Nordic and heroic." They probably are all of that—and probably much more. The melting pot of Italy has in its boiling fused the blood of the Mediterranean shores, north and south, east and west. It has taken into its stream traces of many other races. In Italy's long existence it has been invaded by Normans, Spaniards, men from the Alpines, from Austria and Greece, and Saracens. Goths and Lombards, Celts and Gauls have contributed their blood, and it would be strange if the slaves brought from Africa had left no trace of their racial characteristics. Of course the Aryans and Nordics have had some part in making Italy what it is now. We know, in some measure, what melting pots do to a people.

There is little disposition to take issue with any people about heroism. That exists everywhere. In every war it is found on both sides. It is found in every walk of life. There is no lack of heroes anywhere. All of our conflicts teach us that. If men from Italy want to claim they are 100 percent Italian there will be no argument. We do not question the Americanism of 100 percenters, altho their judgment about what 100 percenters should do is not always acceptable.

We are not so willing to believe that Italy is 100 percent Aryan and Nordic. We sometimes question whether all Americans are 100 percenters. We will agree that Italy has been made Aryan and Nordic by proclamation—by Mussolini's stroke of the pen. That seems to be about all there is to it.

GOOD NEIGHBORS.

The "Good Neighbors" idea did not originate with presidents nor diplomats nor with others dealing with international problems. It long has been practiced in the neighborhoods where the common people look after each other and by so doing make life seem more worth living.

The other day the Nebraska City News-Press contained the following paragraph:

The "good neighbor" principle is local as well as having international implications. Every day or so I read of incidents, involving groups of farm men hitching up their teams, donning the husking mitts and going over to some unfortunate neighbor's place to harvest the crop for him. The last such gesture of friendship reported was at Palmyra where the neighbors of Will Broderick went into his field like good fairies and harvested the remainder of his crop because he was physically unable to do so. That's service in the most practical form.

The day before that was published the press dispatches had reported a like incident just west of Lincoln, in the Pleasant Dale neighborhood. A farmer, suffering from an injury, was in a cast. In a day his corn was gathered, other necessary farm work attended to, and winter necessities were cared for. At the same time the women folks gave the workers a great dinner and the husking bee was turned into a social gathering where all enjoyed the event.

These events are duplicated every year in many Nebraska neighborhoods.

The good neighbor policy has been in effect in the rural communities of this state since it was first settled. It is not confined to the rural districts either. In the villages and the cities those on whom misfortune has frowned are cared for. It is a kind of social security that comes from everyone feeling his responsibilities for others and seeing that those responsibilities are properly lived up to.

Fence patching is underway in Europe. It is almost a humorous spectacle. The settlement of the Czech crisis resulted in the destruction of all the bonds that tied European powers together. Now Chamberlain is anxious to patch up the understanding with France, and France being in a bad temper as a result of recent difficulties and an unwillingness to surrender any colonial territory, Chamberlain avoids this issue. Colonial claims are not to be discussed at the parley. Meanwhile the French foreign office is not asleep. The groundwork for a new accord with Germany is being laid. France has found Germany about as dependable as England under Chamberlain, so France might as well arrange a peace pact with Germany as to arrange a mutual defense pact with England.

The estate of John D. Rockefeller, sr., has been fixed at 26 millions, of which the government gets about half. Some two-thirds of the estate was in government bonds. The man who was once the wealthiest man in the world had disposed of some 530 millions in philanthropic enterprises long before his death. It may be said of the elder Rockefeller that he proved himself fully capable of handling a large fortune and of disposing of it to advantage. The fortune which he retained for himself was small compared with his total holdings at the peak of his career but it was certainly ample for his modest needs in old age.

A utilities official has made the statement that the government could save the public more on chewing gum and lipstick than it can on power by means of TVA. Without going into the relative merits of price regulation on electricity as compared with regulation of chewing gum and cosmetics, the situation clearly displays the relative standing of the makers of electricity and the makers of gum and cosmetics. When the public demands regulation of these latter activities, if that time should ever come, the government probably will not hesitate.

Secy. Hull seems to believe that American "rights" are to be respected in China. How he arrives at this conclusion from the diplomatic deadlock that has existed for several days is not plain. It would seem that the secretary is indulging in wishful thinking in anticipating a favorable reaction to the new note designed to break the deadlock.

The nazi attitude may be explained as defiant of world opinion. The present horror program is to be continued regardless of the reaction abroad.

The Dies red hunt has reached Spain. If the congressional committee searches a bit further it may find some communists in Russia.

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL.

Judge L. B. Day was a commanding figure, both physically and mentally, in the field of jurisprudence. An athlete in his youth he combined vigor of body with vigor of mind. For nearly 20 years he had sat on the bench, 9 years as a district judge and 9 years as a supreme court judge. He did not, however, lose himself in the abstruse paths of the law. His mind instinctively sought for the right and the justice of a cause, and the technicalities of the law were not for him. His decisions were models of terseness, yet not lacking in authority of the settled law. He had a genius for friendship, and his wit and learning made him a delightful companion. He was not a cloistered judge, but interested in public affairs, and also in men. His passing will sadden many hearts.

Jim Quigley will not resign his position as chairman of the democratic committee for Nebraska. He has announced that pressure from within the organization has caused him to abandon his intention. He will continue in the dual role of national committeeman and state chairman, and perhaps occasionally may add another role where he desires to support a personal friend for office who is a candidate on a non-political ticket. He did that in the last campaign, and was the target for some criticism. His claim then was that as an individual he was merely endorsing the candidacy of a friend. The democratic organization within the state will probably express approval of his latest decision.

An Omaha dispatch reports that since pool room operators have appeared before the court and have been fined in cases growing out of the effort to close horse race betting establishments it is very difficult to place a bet in Omaha on the races. There has been little complaint in Lincoln over the difficulty of placing bets. Until very recently, at least, the "boys" were still "f ing the ponies."

Very recently a pledge has been circulated in Lincoln by enthusiastic drys who hope to better conditions that now exist. The pledge read: "Believing that the sale of alcoholic beverages is economically, socially and morally wrong, it is my purpose, wherever possible, to refrain from patronizing a cafe, restaurant, hotel, drug store, grocery, gas filling station or any other place where liquor, including beer, is kept for sale."

It is understood that a large number of signatures have been secured and it is further understood that some drys refused to sign. A reason offered in defense of refusal was that an organized boycott is un-American and essentially wrong when it is applied against any business that legally exists. It may be true that a great many individuals do not care to enter places where liquor is sold. Nevertheless, any place of business that obeys the law and legally exists, should not be made the object of an organized boycott. The boycott hurts its promoters in the end as much as it hurts the object at which it is directed.

A few days ago the Nebraska Wesleyan, published under the head of "Deaths" a biographical sketch of Harry Oscar Palmer of Omaha. This came as a shock to his many friends in Lincoln. Immediately this paper made an effort to confirm or disprove the report of his death. Mr. Palmer made it plain he was very much alive. Writing to Lincoln friends the day after, Mr. Palmer said, "Among the obituaries I find a review of my own life from birth to date. It is a rare experience to read one's obituary. I wonder if this is to suggest my moribund state politically. Will you please tell my friends that the report of my death is error. I am still among the living."

Continuing Mr. Palmer says: "It it strange that one's death rates a quarter of a column in the press and that one's life by way of refutation of the erroneous report, probably won't justify more than an agate line. I am still among the living, and have no intention whatever of trying to better my lot by any such change as the death notice suggests. Nebraska is plenty good enough for me. I like living—especially since the recent election."

FOOTNOTES.

Hollywood signed up a new movie star from Chicago recently, says the Chicago Daily News. His name is Elmer Gantry; he's 14 years old and he's totally blind. There's no use trying to keep you guessing about him, because he's a deep bay horse and he lives on a farm near Des Plaines with his owner, Miss Eleanor Getzendaner. Gantry was born a thorobred on a ranch in Nebraska about 14 years ago. He was a normal animal, with perfect vision. Miss Getzendaner saw him first when he was a young colt and immediately fell in love with him. His owner wanted too high a price, so Miss Eleanor waited for years.

She finally purchased him for $150, which was a low price for his breed. Miss Eleanor had trained horses all her life and she knew a good animal. She went to work with Gantry and trained him until he was good enough to be a show horse. She took him to Chicago for A Century of Progress and entered him in shows there. It was then for the first time that she discovered why she had been able to buy Gantry for $150. He had developed a condition known as "moon blindness." A cloud would form over the pupils of his eyes and he would be unable to see for many days.

But Miss Eleanor knew that soon he would go totally blind. A veterinary told her that there was no hope for Gantry and that if she were wise she would shoot him and collect the insurance. But Miss Eleanor thought differently. She had learned that Gantry had complete faith in her. For a year after he went totally blind she spent days at a time walking him around the pasture in Des Plaines, talking to him all the time and teaching him that when she said "up" he must step up for a rise in the ground. She taught him other signals too.

But Gantry was a jumper, and it seemed a shame for him to waste his talents in a pasture, walking up and down and depending on his mistress for almost every action. So Miss Getzendaner tried something that would prove successful only for a person who knew and loved animals. Patiently she taught him how to jump again. She first had herself blindfolded so that she could study the reaction to blindness. All the time she trained him she kept talking to Gantry and patting him on the neck and feeding him carrots which she grows on her farm just for that purpose.

"Ready, ready, ready, ready—up," she says to Gantry as she rides him toward the hurdle, and at her command he jumps. He can't see the hurdle, but he knows that his mistress can. He has learned thru tedious training that she will tell him "up" at just the right instant. Before he jumps he likes to walk up to the hurdle and nose it for a few seconds just to get the feel of the thing. He then breaks into a lively prance and runs back about 50 feet. He stops. "Giddap," says Miss Eleanor, gently patting him. "Com'on, com'on, com'on—ready, ready, ready—up," she commands. And up and over he goes. Miss Getzendaner says that she is going to use the money Gantry earns in pictures to buy a "musical fence" for his pasture, so that he will be able to trot around by himself with the noise of the fence to guide his turns.

DAVID LAWRENCE.

WASHINGTON—American business and industry, which used to think that congress makes the laws, have been treated lately to a new form of legislative power exercised by a department of the government in a manner that makes the old NRA seem a tame affair.

For now the department of justice has undertaken to regulate American business, its marketing practices and its competitive endeavors in a scheme which far surpasses in its drastic character the NRA, which the supreme court of the United States, in the words of the late Justice Cardozo, denounced as "delegation run riot."

By the use of a device called the "consent decree," Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, has thrown a scare into American business which he, himself, insists is unjustified, but there's no denying he has got hold of a phase of governmental power which can affect American business stability very profoundly.

In some respects, the old NRA was much better. Under its procedure, business men met with the administrator and discussed and agreed on a code. All interested parties participated in the hearings, there was no discrimination as against competitors, and the codes at least had the virtue of being arrived at without any form of duress, actual or implied.

Now, under the scheme devised by Mr. Arnold—and he is conscientious and sincere in his belief he has developed something constructive—the department of justice files criminal indictments and then waits for the defendants to come hat in hand to the department begging for mercy. As a matter of fact, the assistant attorney general says quite naively that he cannot tell them what to do and that he isn't insisting that they do anything, but, when they do come to his department, they are given mimeographed copies of all previous press releases and departmental policies and they can, if they like, formulate a proposal putting an end to the practices complained of and also suggesting other self-restraints which will be in the public interest.

Mr. Arnold declares that the presence of criminal indictments has nothing to do with the negotiations for a consent decree, that he isn't agreeing in advance to forgive past offenses, but that, if a good code is worked out, he will ask the court to let the defendants off and will tell the court that the reason he is doing this is because an agreement has been reached to refrain from doing other things not covered by the indictments or the law itself.

Now it is a fact that the defendants know that Mr. Arnold can accept or reject their proposals as being adequate or inadequate, so that the claim that the department of justice isn't passing on the merits of the proposals is just one of those little practical jokes of which some of the new dealers are so fond.

But here is a power exercised by one man which is greater than the power which Gen. Hugh Johnson ever exercised. Business men may have found fault with the general's "cracking down," and yet, as between the Arnold method of threatening jail sentences and the treatment they got from NRA, they would a thousand times rather have the latter.

For one thing, the assistant attorney general is a law unto himself. He decides what is good or bad marketing practice because he approves or rejects proposals for consent decrees. He alone decides that mere agreement to stop doing something complained of isn't enough. But that as a penalty something additional must be agreed to which, admittedly, the Sherman anti-trust laws do not cover.

Everybody will concede that criminal as well as civil penalties should be imposed on law breakers in the field of monopoly, but it also will be noted that the filing of criminal indictments on a technicality for a complicated question of economics is an abuse of governmental power. Mr. Arnold uses as his favorite analogy that, when nice folks are arrested for breaking the traffic laws, society insists on their punishment nowadays and that criminal prosecutions for violation of the business traffic laws are the same thing. What Mr. Arnold forgets is that reckless driving is easily determinable. Speedometers have been invented to limit the number of miles per hour one can travel and also a host of specific regulations tell the citizen how fast, for instance, he can go on intersections and when he can pass another car.

As for economic questions, there are no speedometers which tell when competition becomes unlawful. The supreme court established at one time a "rule of reason" as between good and bad trusts, and, in later years, the courts have applied the anti-trust laws to specific complaints which must be adjudicated on their merits and which constitute a body of precedents for the guidance of other courts and other business men.

The unsatisfactory situation created by the lack of specific rules has been so widely recognized that the president asked congress to appoint a committee to study the matter. The socalled anti-monopoly committee has arranged to survey the whole subject, but meanwhile Mr. Arnold has "scooped" the committee, the congress and the president. He has put into effect all by himself a new scheme to handle the problem of competition, and, when congress gets back here in January, it will find that no legislation at all is needed—the Arnold plan is so simple. All that is required is for the department of justice to find a technicality of some kind on which to file a criminal indictment—and Mr. Arnold will do the rest by the socalled "consent decree," which has become the new third degree of the era of business regulation in America.

THE PUBLIC MIND.

Another Spot Added to the "White Spot" on the Map.

ARNOLD—Now, that the election is over, it seems that Nebraska has another spot of different color than the much vaunted white spot. One spot, namely Omaha, elects the governor for the state. That fact smacks much of racketeering domination or what have you. At least it puts on a par with the nation's sore spots, New York, Chicago, Detroit. The truck strike is still on, interfering with legitimate out-of-Omaha business. Business and trade may seek a freer channel despite Nebraskans pride in Omaha the metropolis.

Gov. Murphy lost his political shirt thru condoning illegal activities or strikers in his state. Perhaps Gov. Cochran can draw a moral from that. Meanwhile the rest of us, in surveying these various "spots may only console ourselves by saying that Shakespeare had the word for these spots years ago when he wrote the sleep-walking scene in Macbeth.

We Have Power to Choose Whether We Will Ascend or Descend in Life.

LINCOLN.—The creeds and ideals of Christianity do differ very much from the actions of many so-called Christians. We are very far from the goal of Christianity but we are at least making an effort in that direction. We are told that God does not demand that we achieve, but He does demand that we attempt. As Paul the apostle said, "The gospel was given for the perfecting of the saints." Without it how can we hope to attain our goal? There are many people who are living as close to the teachings of Christ as they know how. The majority of people are making a fair effort to live clean lives. The Christian message is the answer to our troubles, and we must all work together if we are to better ourselves. It is the duty of the church and school to teach from youth the principles of right living.

True, God is not the author of discord and confusion, but He has placed us here on earth to work out our own salvation. He is not going to do it for us. God will force no man to heaven, but He gives us the plan by which we may work our way back into His presence. We have our free agency on earth and it is a wonderful gift. We have the right and power to choose whether we will ascend or descend in life. By overcoming weaknesses and selfishness we become strong. If we were forced to live in peace and harmony with each other we would not be happy, but if we can attain this state by our own efforts what joy will be ours. True Christianity is not concerned with rituals and ceremony. Christ chose His apostles from the humblest of men, fishermen and a tax collector and others in humble circumstances. He was never too haughty or proud to go into the poorest dwelling places.

Christian religion does have a place in human relationships. It is first. By following its ideals we will have the answer to our social and economic troubles.

Approves Plan to Follow Slot Machine Defeat with Anti-Parimutuel Campaign.

LINCOLN.—Big idea, that of cleaning up parimutuel betting as some more smudge to be erased from the "White Spot of America" as proposed by W. C. Birmingham, of North Loup. The magnificent moral victory in shutting out the slot machines from our fair state puts all concerned voters in the right psychological frame of mind to go after other big games of the grafters on our people. While moral victories are not won at 5 cents a name on commercialized petitions, the moral stamina of our citizens is still potent for the larger purposes of moral chivalry.

It is a psychological weakness of human nature to want to get much for little. To non-specialized psychologists its universality points to its rootage in instinctive tendencies, that is, in deep seated racial inheritances. The semisavage gamesters of the Philippines gamble their pitiful possessions on the outcome of a cock fight. The sampan scavengers of the Amoor river gamble to see which of two swimmers shall have the floating object of some little value which they have grabbed at the same time. The opium dealers of the Yangtse river valley gamble incessantly between opium puffs, and the dwellers in darkest Africa stake their little all on the outcome of their gaming fates.

What is morally worse than the degrading exercise of a deepseated human urge, is the fact that governments will take advantage of human weakness to add to their own incomes. The amazing fatuity of permitting our own people to be exploited for the sake of a little more income to Nebraska is shown in its willingness to permit our citizens to consume $20,000,000 worth of damaging liquor in order to give the state its heavily taunted 10 percent profit. It is apparent in the privilege we give to conscienceless adventurers to grossly exploit unsophisticated visitors to our state fair for a stingy income to the state fair board. And it is at the root of all bank night follies that stamp our people as still overloaded with savage survivals of gross primevalism.

Yes, by all means let's go after parimutuel betting next.

DR. BRADY'S HEALTH TALK.

Firmness, elasticity, resiliency, tension, vigor, poise, fitness or readiness to function normally—that is what the doctor means when he speaks of the tone of any of the organs or tissues of the body.

In the healthy individual the tone of stomach and intestine is an important factor of good digestion. For example the stomach and intestinal wall have layers of involuntary muscle fibers some of which are lengthwise and some circular, and it is the rhythmic contraction and relaxation of these muscle coats that constitute peristalsis, the churning and the propulsive movements of stomach and intestine.

Thruout the body both voluntary and involuntary muscle is more or less controlled by the autonomic or "sympathetic" nervous system. In the intestine, where the muscle is all involuntary muscle, the tone or firmness or elasticity is maintained by the counterbalance between the influence of vagus and splanchnic portions of the autonomic nerve control. Stimulation of the vagus portion causes contraction or increased tone of intestinal musculature, while stimulation of the splanchnic portion inhibits or relaxes muscle tone.

Self contained in the intestinal wall is the apparatus for governing tone. It is an automatic nerve substation called Auerbach and Meissner's plexuses. Auerbach's plexus says "Giddap, hump yourself!" and the intestine responds with a contraction which would amount to severe or painful colic were it not for Meissner's plexus which calls "Hey, there, take it easy, steady, old girl!" and holds back on the reins just enough to keep her pacing smoothly. This may be not entirely accurate, but it will perhaps convey some idea of the significance of tone.

A person blessed with the resiliency of the untamed animal or the uncivilized savage, that better-than-average nutritional condition which manifests itself in the preservation of the characteristics of youth and the highest attainable degree of natural immunity, vite, as our readers named it, has tone. Most persons who do not consider themselves ill yet whose health is not as fine as it might be, lack tone, forever seek "tonics," remedies they hope will tone them up.

Altho gastro-intestinal tone is taken as the example for this attempt to elucidate the thing called tone, it is well to remember that the entire musculature of the body, voluntary and involuntary, is subject to this balance of contraction and relaxation, particularly the involuntary muscle of the heart and blood vessels, and hence the circulation, the supply of blood to every organ and tissue in the body depends on tone.

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

ARNOLD PLANS CARRY OUT ANTITRUST LAWS

Larger Staff and Elaboration of Consent Decrees Envisioned

By Joseph Alsop Robert Kintner

(Copyright by the NANA (The Lincoln Journal and other newspapers))

WASHINGTON A detailed plan for actual enforcement of the antitrust laws has been prepared and will probably be presented to congress by Asst Atty Gen Thurman Arnold Arnold is a puckish fellow fond of upsetting the applecart of the established verities And it is his strange ambition just now to disprove the ancient maxim that the antitrust laws are unenforceable

Seriously speaking the Arnold plan is exceedingly significant Real enforcement of the antitrust laws would affect American business much more intimately than the passage of a new wage hour or labor relations act From the time of their enactment the laws have been dead letters to all but a small number of the largest corporations All sorts of price fixing and competition strangling have flourished among business men little and big Occasional spasms of trust busting have merely spanked a few score of the most obvious offenders

As a result as the vast majority of competent economists testify the price and distribution systems have become semirigid The state of affairs has been accepted as natural even inevitable But now comes Arnold once mayor of Laramie Wyo who practices a sort of rowdy plainsman's humor thumbing his nose and shouting that the state of affairs isn't in the least natural or inevitable And to prove his statement he offers his plan which seems fairly practical on paper

Big and Little

The plan's first item is a tremendous increase in the personnel of the justice department's antitrust division The antitrust laws have never been enforced for the simple reason that there has been no one to enforce them In the trust busing era or Roosevelt the first the division consisted of five lawyers and four stenographers Even now there are only 97 men to police tens of thousands of firms in hundreds of industries The antitrust laws are quite as complex and far reaching as the enabling acts of the SEC An enforcement staff comparable to the SEC's as contemplated Meanwhile an enforcement school has been started within the antitrust division to train officers for the prospective army

If and when the army is recruited regional offices will be established and charged with regional policing Preventing big business men from combining in restraint of trade will not be the sole object There is a wealth of evidence that little business men gang up quite as often to keep competing grocers contractors and the like out of their small towns and cities The practice is as productive of economic rigidity and quite as illegal as the combinations of big business It is intended to be stopped

This point alone should suffice to prove the significance of the new plan If the antitrust laws are ever enforced against little business men nine tenths of the victims will be hearing of the laws for the first time in their lives The resulting uproar should be deafening

Flexible Instruments

Straight enforcement is thought sufficient for ordinary purposes But the business structure is immensely complex To avoid injustice instruments are also necessary for dealing with special situations Therefore permanent congressional committees on monopoly are proposed in the hope that they will produce legislation as it is required to fit the antitrust laws to individual industries And a new use of the consent decree is planned

The consent decree is simply a legally binding promise to be good entered by a company under prosecution in order to close the case As the terms of the promise are reached by negotiation the decree is a flexible instrument The objection to it is that in accepting a consent decree the antitrust division assumes the function of judge as well as prosecutor To meet the objection full publicity is promised It is also promised that tentative plans for the decree will be prepared by the prosecuted companies without consultation with the antitrust division And it is suggested that the job of passing on consent decrees be taken from the antitrust division and transferred to some such independent semijudicial agency as the federal trade commission

By this system for example a mass assault might be made on the building business Each of the building materials industries has refused to lower its prices until all the others did All of them could be called by simultaneous suits aimed at a general entering of consent decrees lowering all building material prices Thus without injustice to anyone spots might be knocked out of the cost of housing Indeed all sorts of things might be done by the Arnold plan since it is both flexible and automatic The real question is whether they will be

by Kathryn Bemus

Webb is he here this early? murmured almost incoherently Very well I'll give him a piece of my mind Why He might have ruined everything You can't be too careful of Hennington my darling You could you know drive him too far As it is he's horribly upset over what happened last night

Kay scowled pulled petals from a white rose on a bush beside her She said with downcast eyes Henn would be upset But we can't hush up an incident so many people already know about Well have to take it standing How ever—it's nothing serious I dine with Chuck—Webb joins us—tried to play a joke on us There's nothing incriminating in all that—even if I am the fiancee of the pompous Mr Blair

You sound more bitter than happy over it Kay It worries me Sometimes I wish you weren't engaged to Hennington But now that he has settled all our pressing debts it would be unfair if you—

I'll marry him of course said Kay resignedly There's nothing else to do The roar of a motor came from the drive Kay shrugged That's Webb—taking his mangled feelings home to breakfast she said

In a way she felt sorry for him She knew what it meant to lose the object of one's affections Something went out of you and made you feel eternally alone in a world full of people

Thank heaven I didn't see Webb' came from Cora emphatically I would have told him exactly what he is—and forfeited his mother's friendship

'Yes said Kay vaguely We'd better forget the whole business

She went slowly up the elm lined path thinking Henn had settled the immediate debts of the Millstrom family—and Cora was satisfied Things could go on as usual—on Henn's money If she ever had had hopes of escaping from marrying him she had not been thinking straight She couldn't escape that's all As for love—love was a sacredly dear emotion which you shelved when personal matters grew too pressing to be ignored It was being done continually more or less It was her turn now

She entered her dressing room with a heavy sigh Listlessly she put on the white silk sport dress that Aimee had laid out for her She glanced thru her morning mail sipped the coffee Sartin had brought in

The pile of bills she laid aside for her mother to go over and read the note from Gloria Sherman It was an invitation to spend a month in the Sherman camp at Lake George

Kay brightened A whole month away from Hennington Then abruptly her perplexities returned Henn would fly out every week end if he did not insist upon being at the lake constantly to chaperon her She knew Henn! He was always more fatherly than lover like Even his kisses seemed provokingly premeditated coolly calculating She often wondered what the innermost thoughts of such a man could possibly be and shuddered To be tied to him for life

Kay tossed aside this annoying chain of thought and had her maroon roadster brought around on the drive She wished for a jungle within easy driving distance—where she could be alone

The car whizzed her down the highway at 60 making a stiff breeze twist whipped strands of hair into her troubled eyes She wore no hat She wanted to feel the fresh cool air on her head as well as on her feverish cheeks to blow the cobwebs from her seething brain While she was in motion terrific motion finally the speedometer going to 90 she felt strong enough to conquer the world She even felt able to conquer the peculiar situation in which she found herself

Several times on a curve or at a crossroad she narrowly avoided crashing into buses or trucks or slow moving horse drawn farm vehicles She laughed aloud at the other drivers scared faces only feeling not hearing the noise that came from her dry throat because of the buzzing in her ears

She drove on and on until she was seized with acute hunger She began looking for a lunch room and at last saw a clean looking shack She drew up beside the gasoline pumps

Fill up the tank—and look at the oil please she said to the fresh faced young attendant and stepped to the ground

Yes miss he eagerly responded taking the gasoline hose off the hook Fine spell of weather we ben havin

Her wind reddened eyes flitted negligently past him to the clean windowed little house behind She went out and got into her car She gave the attendant a bill and smiled as he waved her cheerily out the drive

It was high time she was getting home She suddenly remembered her appointment for a fitting at 2 o'clock Her wedding gown Then there was that tea in her honor which Nettie Tooter was giving this afternoon and she mustn't let Nettie down as much as she'd like to avoid the tea and the buzzing crowd of old friends She was so weary of acting the happily engaged girl before their penetrating eyes'

Her speedometer began climbing again Alfalfa fields of corn, wheat barley oats became a single blur on her horizon She began looking for a turn which would take her back to Deweyton, and suddenly realized she was lost

She came to a cross road and sighed with relief A signboard read Deweyton 40 miles' She pressed her foot down hard on the accelerator

She came to a long wooden bridge thinking 'How rustic looking' It must be old—it's really an addition to the landscape'

That the bridge was very ancient she was immediately to realize As she raced across its rotted boards they responded with an angry crackling sound and her car came to an abrupt halt, hurling her forward into the windshield

DEMAND REVISION OF WAGNER LABOR ACT

Mississippi Valley Association Describes Law as Injurious

ST LOUIS (AP) The Mississippi Valley association an organization to promote commerce industry and agriculture in the 25 states drained by the Mississippi river and its tributaries was lined up solidly for revision of the Wagner labor relations act

The delegates denounced the law as injurious to these interests in a resolution adopted at the association's closing session Tuesday Revision was demanded to equalize justice among all groups

We deplore any administrative procedure which gives to any agency of government the power x x x to act as investigator prosecutor and judge in matters involving the relations of employes and employers

We believe that a fair and impartial labor tribunal independent of the labor relations board should be created wherein any party involved in a labor controversy may secure an orderly and unbiased hearing and if he feels himself aggrieved by the decision he may appeal his cause to the courts

Reorganization of the government which would place under partisan control such non partisan offices as the comptroller general the interstate commerce commission and the federal trade commission also was opposed

The convention reaffirmed its opposition to the proposed new St Lawrence seaway treaty It was claimed the major benefits would go to Canada instead of the United States

Touching upon railroads the organization termed itself opposed to any bills to unnecessarily increase the cost of railroad operation

Lachlan Macleay, former vice president and connected with the association since 1922 was named president at the closing session He succeeds former Gov Arthur J Weaver of Nebraska who was chosen chairman of the board of directors

Health Talks

BY DR HERMAN BUNDESEN
President Chicago Board of Health

Some persons get dizzy when they ride in a motor car Some persons lose their hearing because the little tubes between the throat and the ear are blocked up Some have ringing in the ears because of some emotional disturbance

However medical science has recognized a disorder which in some cases causes attacks of dizziness deafness and ringing in the ears The attacks may come on at frequent intervals or may not happen more than once or twice a month This condition is called Meniere's (Men-e-aiz) syndrome (sin drom) because it is not an actual disease but rather a group of symtoms which may be brought on by a variety of causes

When this disorder occurs an examination is made to determine if there are any simple causes for it which may be easily cleared up For example it may develop because of hardened wax is pressing against the ear drum of one ear This unequal pressure on the two drums may produce the symtoms An acute infection of the middle part of the ear produces an increased pressure in the affected ear which often brings on these symtoms If there is a blocking of the tube which leads from the throat to the ear called the eustachian (u stay ke an) tube there may be a decrease of the pressure in one ear which will produce the symtoms of Meniere's disease

Neuritis Possible Cause

A neuritis or inflammation of the nerve of hearing which may develop because of infection in the teeth tonsils or elsewhere in the body may produce Meniere's syndrome And it may also be brought on by syphilis However in a certain number of patients none of these causes can be found

In treating these patients sedative drugs such as phenobarbital (fe no-bar bit al) may be employed with good results in certain instances

For some years it has been recommended that careful regulation of the amount of water these individuals take may help to control the symptoms particularly the dizziness and ringing in the ears Those who believe that a disturbance of the water chemistry of the body may cause these symptoms state that Meniere's syndrome reveals itself in a general disturbance of the circulation

Its Symptoms

At the time of an attack the patient may feel chilly his feet and hands may be cold and there may be some thin watery discharge from the nose Satisfactory results have been seen from treatment of Meniere's syndrome by restricting the amount of water given to these patients They are also given a salt free diet and certain drugs which stimulate the action of the kidneys thus aiding in the elimination of greater quantities of water from the body

In some cases the deafness increases with each attack and when complete deafness is reached the attacks disappear This is not always the case however

It is thought by some that Meniere's disease may be produced by over sensitiveness to various foods Skin tests to determine when such sensitiveness is present may be carried out By eliminating from the diet the foods to which the individual is sensitive the attacks of Meniere's disease may be overcome

Goodnight Stories

BY MAX TRELL

Knarf and Hanid the two shadow children were talking to their good friend Mr Punch who lived in the playroom It was late at night but Mr Punch was sitting up telling the two shadows about his travels

Now take Holland for instance he went on There's a lovely country if ever there was one Do you know what Holland is famous for?

Wooden shoes Knarf answered quickly just to show how clever he was

But Hanid said No that isn't right Holland is famous for tulips

Mr Punch smiled Both of you are right But the real reason Holland is famous is because of the ocean

The ocean! What do you mean Mr Punch?

Well he said in every other country that I can think of and I may be wrong he added with a twinkle the ocean is always lower than the land But in Holland it's higher than the land Yes my dears it's a good deal higher

You mean it's on top of the land? Hanid exclaimed

It would be if the people who live in Holland the Dutch weren't so clever They've kept it from coming on top of the land

What did they do? Tell us please! both shadows begged

I'm coming to that Now the Dutch as I said before are a very clever folk This is what they did They built walls to keep the water out—enormous strong high walls higher than the water And these walls are dikes'

Dikes?

Mr Punch nodded 'If it weren't for them Holland would be under water and all the Dutchmen would be fish There wouldn't be any wooden shoes for they'd all float off And the tulips would have so much water they'd melt

The two shadows were silent for a while Finally Knarf said The Dutch aren't the only smart people We're pretty smart too

Hmm What do you mean?'

Well we often have the water over our heads too—lots of water But we don't bother about building walls We just open up an umbrella

Mr Punch laughed heartily It's not quite the same thing he said still laughing but I see what you mean Yes indeed! I see what you mean

Marriage Meddlers

A Sequel to "Married Comrades"

By Adele Garrison

Synopsis In New York City with Madge to train for a role in the latter's play Mary is being followed by detectives believed to be spies of Phillip Verlinzen Mary's father in law and producer of the play The still worried about a suspected plot against her husband Madge accompanies Mary and her brothers Hank and Bill on an afternoon outing They arrive at a restaurant after eluding one of the spies on the way from a movie theater

Hank's prophecy that he would know the second detective trailing us in a graveyard in the dark of the moon was apparently not to be fulfilled before he and Bill should have to bid us goodbye and take the train to Sag Harbor

The fortuitous chance which traffic had given us kept up its beneficence and when we arrived at the restaurant the all of us scanned all four corners of the horizon we could see no sign of either the first detective who had followed us from the Lansfield to the theater and sat behind us during the talkies or of the big tall man Hank had spotted as the comrade of the first

Won't Bribe Him

While Bill was paying the driver I hesitated for an instant dallying with the idea of tipping the man heavily and asking him not to give out any information about us to anyone requesting it Then I reasolutely put the idea of bribery behind me There might be occasions when it would be justified but this particular one was not important enough for either the expenditure or the loss of self esteem involved

A timely word to the head waiter secured us the corner table I had suggested As it was yet early for dinner there was plenty of space around us and I knew that no detective wishing to keep his proximity to us unobserved would think of making himself conspicuous by taking one of the vacant tables near us

Can Relax Now

You can relax now I told my young people Nobody can hear you if you talk in ordinary tones

Bill and Hank heaved simultaneous deep sighs

That'll help Hank said but Bill waited for an instant before speaking

Do you mean you think that man can't find us? he asked

It depends upon how much time he has I answered and all three faces turned to me attentively

I think I get you Auntie Madge Mary said her face alight with interest You think he noted the number of our taxi driver and now that he has lost track of us he will hunt up our driver and find out where he had taken us

He'll Need Luck

If Aunt Lilian were here she would tell you to go to the head of the class I said with a smile and Mary blew me a kiss

Then it's all on the knees of the ever useful gods as to whether he finds us here she went on If he has luck finding the other driver we'll have the pleasure of seeing him if he's delayed we'll be back in the Lansfield before he gets here Is that the dope?

That is the dope I assured her gravely Then I looked at my wrist watch

Don't you think we'd better begin ordering? I suggested as a waiter came up to us and we began consulting the menu

Boys Afternoon

It's your night or rather afternoon to howl boys Mary told her brothers so you'd better be writing out your orders You never can remember all the things you'll want I know and you can be thinking them over while Auntie Madge and I select what we want How about you Auntie Madge?

The shore dinner I said promptly smiling to myself as I remembered Dicky's frequent comment that I am slightly insane where seafood is concerned

Make it double Mary said That just hits the spot with me Now boys what about you?

The boys had their heads together over the menu but Hank looked up at Mary's query

We can't find hamburgers on here he said Don't they have 'em here?

Offers Suggestions

His voice was filled with disappointment so patent that I had hard work keeping my face straight But Mary made no effort to hide her mocking mirth

Isn't that just too bad? she gurgled But I think if the waiter puts his mind to it he probably can scare up a couple for you What rare delicacies have you planned for the rest of this feast which Uncle Dicky planned to be a memorable one? I can suggest a few if you're hesitating How about ham and eggs pork and beans liver and onions corn beef and cabbage pork tenderloin goulash and stew? Lump a few of those and you'll have some thing with which you can crow over the other lads when you get back to dear old Worcester"

EXTENSION OF HOPPER CONTROL WORK URGED

Conference of State Leaders Recommends $5 000,000 Fund for 1939

OMAHA (AP) Men on the front line of the nation s battle against grasshoppers recommended Tuesday increased control measures for 1939 and an extension of the program to a permanent basis

A conference of state hopper control leaders suggested a 5 million dollar congressional appropriation for the 1939 campaign more than double the $2 125 646 spent this year The regional grasshopper control committee representing 24 infested states from Michigan to the west coast boosted its estimates of poison bait needed from 178 411 tons the 1938 estimate to 206 242 tons for 1939

Federally paid baiting crews using airplanes and power spreading machines where necessary were recommended by the regional group and federal entomology officials attending the conferences indicated such a campaign is being planned

Infestation thru the midwestern states is not so severe as last year the committee reported on the basis of a grasshopper egg survey but included in the 1939 plans are provisions for poisoning idle and range land never before controlled

Over the entire area the survey report said it may be said that infestation for next year will not be as severe as in 1938 control measures where 90 percent kills were reported have been of material help These together with rains have reduced the potential for the entire area

U S bureau of entomology and plant quarantine officials who met with the state hopper control leaders disclosed a total of 51 655 801 acres of farm land were protected by the 1938 drive

Actual bait used amounted to 132 865 tons and an estimated $138 759 032 worth of crops were saved The hoppers took a toll of $76 481 578 in crops the poisoning efforts failed to save they said

O S Bare Re elected

The control committee re elected O S Bare Nebraska extension entomologist chairman

The state leaders advocated increased research on grasshoppers Mormon crickets and chinch bugs to discover more about the ways they swoop down to destroy rich farm acres and to lay the basis for more adequate control measures

Entomologists F A Fenton Oklahoma C L Corkin Wyoming and H B Mills Montana drew up the state leaders recommendations

Bare s regional committee said it wished to recognize the fact that the grasshopper control work is gradually assuming the aspects of a permanent program and to set up more definite and permanent principles for conduct of the state federal co operative control program

The committee outlined distribution plans similar to those used this year when federal regional grasshopper control offices supervised poison bait distribution to the states which in turn mixed and distributed it thru local committees

Tons of bait estimated for various states

HOOVER IN AN ATTACK ON THE DICTATORSHIPS

Europe Supplies an Example of Living by Force and Brutality

TORONTO (Canadian Press) Herbert Hoover attacked dictatorships which live by terror and brutality and called for a world moral rearmament as a cure for present day evils Addressing an annual dinner of the York Bible class the former president said that failure of men to develop and maintain moral standards was the deficiency in all nations which produces all this conflict and confusion in the world

Indeed he said the world is waiting for some spiritual or ethical control of material powers and it cannot wait for long At the present time nothing so concerns the progress of mankind

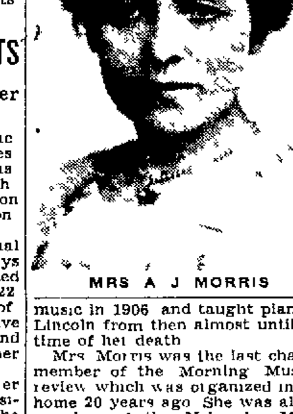

Hoover told his audience a distinguished gathering which included Canada s governor general Lord Tweedsmuir that we should worry less over public conscience and mass morals and worry more over individual conscience and individuals morals for therein is the only foundation of real moral progress

Hoover referred to the horrors of war in China and Spain mentioning the bombing to death of thousands of women and children for no military purpose but to create horror

Sharp Rise in Number Voters Who Think Republicans Will Win in 1940

BY DR GEORGE GALLUP

Director American Institute of Public Opinion

NEW YORK Republican successes in the recent election have brought about a striking increase in the number of voters who think the g o p will win the presidency in 1940

Nationwide surveys taken by the institute twice in the past year and repeated again today show that belief in a republican victory has grown to the point where one half of the voters including a sizable number of democrats now think the g o p will carry the country in 1940

A year ago less than one third of the voters had any such faith in a republican comeback

This bolstering of confidence in the political future of the g o p seems to spring from a widespread belief that a trend or swing away from the democrats is in process The comment most frequently made by voters who think the republicans will win in 1940 is that the election Nov 8 showed the tide is that way

The institute s surveys taken in September 1937 April 1938 and today asked voters the question Which party do you think will win the presidential election in 1940 democratic republican socialist or some other party

A trend is clearly evident in the following comparison of the replies

	Per cent Expecting Victory for Democrats	Per cent Expecting Victory for Republicans
September 1937	69	31
April 1938	60	40
Today	50	50

Only a small handful of voters mentioned the socialist party or some other party is a likely winner

Vote Is Index of Party Psychology

While it is impossible for the public to judge clearly the factors that may prove decisive in an election two years off nevertheless the survey is an interesting index of the relative feeling of confidence which the rank and file of voters have in their respective parties

For example the survey a year ago found the democratic rank and file extremely confident about the party s future prospects while the republicans were much less certain about the possibilities for their party Today s survey however finds the republicans much more confident of victory in 1940 than the democrats Almost one third of the democrats actually believe the republicans will win

There are also some republicans who think the g o p will still be out in the cold in 1940 but the percentage of these republican doubters is much smaller than the percentage of democratic doubters

Republican voters saying republicans will win	83%
Republican voters saying republicans will lose	18
Democratic voters saying democrats will win	69
Democratic voters saying democrats will lose	31

Lincoln High Heads Westward For State Title Go At North Platte

I May Be Wrong
By John Bentley

Wesley "Plowboy" Fry and his Kansas State Wildcats are here Thursday for the annual bump and grunt exercises which mark the end of the 1938 trail for both elevens.

The Huskers and Wildcats have had much the same sort of seasons, their moments of joy eclipsed by longer moments of meditation, brought on by some sound spankings.

Only twice this fall have the Wildcats been held scoreless, Northwestern and Oklahoma succeeding in dropping a blank into the Wildcat's powderbox while three times the Huskers have been held without a point, in the Indiana, Oklahoma and Pittsburgh contests.

Fry's family of footballers had two bad sinking spells against Kansas and Oklahoma; but they forced Papa Waldorf's Northwestern team into the air before the Wildcats, Chicago branch, could score two of their three touchdowns on the Wildcats, Manhattan, Kas., branch.

The Cornhusker's biggest problems likely will develop in attempting to stop Elmer Hackney's rushes and the left handed passes of Elmer Nieman, sophomore

The Kansas Staters are using an offense similar to that employed by Missouri with Hackney and Nieman in the spinner back positions In front of this is a balanced line, so the play can go either way, if it's a run or plunge; or a pass can develop. It keeps K-State's offensive maneuvers a mystery as long as possible.

Barely squeezing past on Lowell English's field goal last autumn at Manhattan, Thursday's contest has all the earmarks of another tossup.

Raymond West of Weeping Water writes:

"I think you are right about Charley Brock having started more games than any other Nebraska player but I believe the records will show that Ed Weir started every one of the 24 games that Nebraska played in 1923-24-25 and that he played the entire 60 minutes in over half of them Weir and Brock are just about absolute tops in Nebraska history, at least in modern times."

Virgil Yelkin, Norfolk coach, puts in a word for Dale Bernhardt, "He's the best high school tackle I have ever seen," Yelkin writes. "He has been the outstanding player on the field against such teams as Hastings, Fremont, and Neligh."

Neal Mehring's Salida, Colo., high school eleven missed winning its conference title, but succeeded in tying the champion, Pueblo Central, and the runnerup, Trinidad. Also, Salida won from the champions of two other conferences. Neal has a squad of 28 players and his team averaged 151 pounds, the biggest regular he had weighing 166. Mehring's team tipped over Cortez, 26 to 19, champion of southwest Colorado which went into the contest with ten games won and none lost, scoring 253 points to opponent's 14.

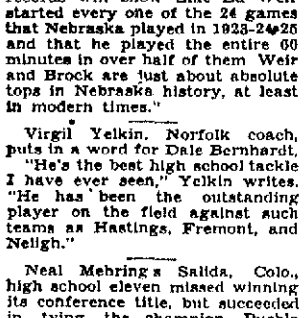

And so another old Husker blue is making good.

Our nomination as the "iron man" of Nebraska high school football this season is Virgil Willnerd, senior center on the Oakland eleven. He played every minute of nine games. Any better records?

SCHINDLER IS NAMED.

FALLS CITY, Neb.—W. A. Schindler, Tecumseh high school superintendent, has been chosen to serve as president of the Southeastern Nebraska conference for the ensuing year. He replaces Supt. M R. Shrader of Nebraska City. Coach Merl Peek of Pawnee City is vice president and Principal Leo Black of Nebraska City, secretary and treasurer.

BY GLENN TRUMP.

With a buildup that has worked to a natural climax, the football teams of Lincoln and North Platte lock horns on the Lincoln county gridiron Thanksgiving afternoon and scuffle for approximately two hours to decide the team best fitted to wear the 1938 state prep crown.

The game, which will climax a great prep season that has had more than its share of thrills, is booked to start at 2.30 p. m. before a crowd of 5,000, an all time record for the outstaters.

According to North Platte officials, the game will attract fans from more than a hundred miles, including many Red and Black rooters.

Altho the two teams have not met a common foe this season, it will be Coach Ralph Beechner's victory gorged youths from the Capital City who will enter the game slight favorites The Red and Black has stowed away a Missouri Valley conference title already, while North Platte encountered little difficulty scampering off with a Southwest conference championship. The comparative records:

Using New Attacks.

Each team has scouted the other twice, and both have revised their attacks and will enter the game with practically entirely new offensives

Lincoln's ace in the hole, however will still be the great passing of Howard Debus, 185 pound junior fullback In past games this fall this triple threat youngster has never failed when the Red and Black has had its back to the wall

Don Hansen, he of the springy legs, and Fred Metheny, who usually is concerned in the necessary art of removing enemy tacklers are the Links' best open field bets, while Buddy King, a 190 pound powerhouse, and Debus concentrate on straight line plunges

In the line, Lincoln's best points are Dean Jackson, small but agile end who is a fine pass receiver Joe Partington defensive sparkplug of the team Eugene Irick scrappy guard, and Forest Bachman 185 pound tackle

The Platter's offensive borders on the razzle dazzle line Coach Ivan Wilson's backs are small but are well equipped with speed and ability Bob James who was nicknamed "Jesse" because of his knack of stealing games, is the main cog of the offensive, ably abetted by Ron Langford who does a majority of the pass snatching

Murphy Lugs the Ball.

Bob Jones the field general who hits hard and Palmer Murphy, a former Lincoln but who once played with Partington Jackson and Metheny, round out the ball jugging quartet

The Bulldogs line is built around Arthur Lincoln and Herb Goetz formidable tackles and Phil Breen a swift end who also does considerable ball toting

The Links, with a squad of 27 shoved off Wednesday morning and ate lunch at Kearney Coach Ralph Beechner expected to give the starting nod to John Anderson at left end and Fred Lorenz at right guard, but indicated last minute changes might have Melvin Kessler and Bob Ogden replacing them, respectively

The Red and Black were to take their final workout on the North Platte field Wednesday afternoon

It will be the final prep game for 17 Red and Black warriors including Dean Jackson, Collins McMaster, John Anderson and George Maser ends Forrest Bachman and Dale king tackles Fred Lorenz, Eugene Irick Tom Miller and Bob Ogden guards, Joe Partington, Bill Page and Willard Lobdell, centers and Fred Methney, Don Hansen, Don Lovell and Bob Lebsack backs

Hold Weight Edge.

Thanks to an overwhelming advantage in the backfield, Lincoln will enter the game with a weight advantage of 12 pounds per man The line has but a five pound leeway. The probable starting lineups numbers and weights

JACKSON FAVORED IN ANNUAL TURKEY DAY JOUST WITH HAVELOCK

Wesleyan Bowl Scene Annual Morning Contest of League Teams.

KICKOFF TIMED 10 A. M.

Barring a rank upset by College View over Bethany, Coach Merritt Robson's Jackson eleven and Havelock will battle Thanksgiving morning without a title at stake for the first time in nearly a decade

The game, which Jackson is expected to cop without too much trouble, will start at 10 a. m. in the Wesleyan bowl

If College View should throw a wrench into the Maroon's high geared attack, the victor of the Jackson-Havelock match would gain a tie with Bethany for the Greater Lincoln championship. But with chances for a Southside victory remote, the Jackson-Havelock fracas will probably carry only traditional importance. The comparative records:

IT makes the eye glad and grateful—you spot that the instant your gaze takes in this suave and sparkling Buick for 1939.

It's sleek and swift and businesslike, lean and clean in every line, the trim bonnet low-set, the graceful upper-structure light-and-airy looking, neat and fine.

Will you step in, please, and look it over?

The first thing you'll note is the gearshift. Up off the floor and out of knee-way—under the wheel within a few inches hand-travel.

Then for a long moment your eye is caught and held by an instrument panel stunning as a jeweler's display.

But settle back—take that finger-fitting wheel in hand—imagine there's a road ahead of you, long and straight and open . . .

Why, it's almost like being in an open car, with the outlook you've got here!

The long nose tapers quickly out of eye-way the pillars modestly retire to the background, overhead stop lights drop into easy vision—ahead, to right, to left, you can see!

The ruler will tell you there are as much as 413 added square inches of safety plate glass in this Buick, but the area is not the vital thing.

These inches are placed where they count. They take away that closed-in-feeling—let in the light and the air and the open view!

It has a lot to do with making Buick beautiful, this grand expanse of openness!

And like "catwalk-cooling": radiators low where air pressure is greatest—and the lines of the bonnet: broad, clean, aerodynamically better—Buick's stepped-up visibility both sets a pattern and fills a function.

You'll like this marvelously good car—the way it handles, the way it behaves, the way it stands up to the job, the way it leaves you cool and unwearied at the journey's end.

So take a good look into its bigger, better, broader outlook.

It's one thing among many that Buick's got that you'll want in your next automobile.

Rose Bowl Still Carries Most Prestige

BY HENRY M'LEMORE

PHOENIX Ariz (Copyright 1938 U P) Wandering notes of a wandering sports writer penned on the back of a road map The Sugar bowl and Cotton bowl promoters are hoping and praying that the Pacific coast and Big Ten conference agree to make the Rose bowl game a closed affair between their respective champions

They figure such a move would kill the Rose bowl s national prestige and leave them free to book the rest of the country There is no denying that right now the Rose bowl is to bowl games what the Kentucky derby is to horse races and that there isn t a foot ball club in the nation that wouldn t rather play in Pasadena than anywhere else This is why the directors of the other bowl games have so much trouble booking top teams No one wants to play second fiddle

Speaking of bowl games the one I would like to cover this year is scheduled for Atlanta on New Years day It has been christened the Peach bowl and will feature the best southern colored team against the best eastern colored outfit

They re Still Good

For the private information of those who think the modern athlete has slipped and would be a pushover for the hairy chested hero of yesteryear no fewer than 144 record performances will be presented to the Amateur Athletic union for approval at its annual convention in Washington D C next month And five of them are better than existing world records You won t be surprised when I tell you that of all the sports swimming will offer the most new marks for consideration You really write your record on water when you set a new swimming mark The only explanation I have of this is that the human being is half fish no matter what the chemistry teachers say or that swimming stop watches are all wet

Nebraska s Cornhuskers seeking to improve their position in the final Big Six conference standings will conclude their 1938 season Thursday afternoon against the Kansas State college Wildcats The initial kickoff is scheduled for 2 p m

A victory over the Manhattan eleven would give the Huskers at least a tie for third and fourth place in the loop with a chance to clinch third place should the Kansas Missouri battle end in a tie

Nebraska s lone conference victory this season was at the expense of K U 16 to 7 and it s only other triumph of a disastrous campaign the 14 0 win registered over Iowa U last Saturday The Indiana game ended in a scoreless tie

Defeats were suffered at the hands of Minnesota Iowa State Missouri, Oklahoma and Pittsburgh

Last Game for Ten

Ten seniors will be playing their last game for the Scarlet notably Halfback Jack Dodd of Gothenburg Fullbacks Bill Callihan and Bill Andreson co captains for Thursday s skirmish Left Tackle Bob Mills and Center Charley Brock Thurston Phelps quarter back Vernon Neprud right tackle Lloyd Grimm right end Halfback Marvin Plock and Right End Kenneth Shindo will also hang up their togs for keeps after the Turkey day skirmish

Members of the Husker coaching staff and the senior members of the squad were honored at a special student rally Wednesday morning at the Student Union building Graduating members of the varsity group were presented with scrolls by the Tassels and Corncobs student pep organizations

The Kansas State squad and student followers will not arrive in Lincoln until late Thursday noon from Manhattan They will leave shortly after the game

The Wildcats with victories over Indiana Missouri and Washburn and a tie with the second place Iowa Staters will be at least even money favorites to trip up the Biffer s gang altho Nebraska s improved showing in recent games may swing the tide toward the Scarlet

Hackney Hard to Stop

Outstanding among Wes Fry s gridders is Elmer One Man Riot Hackney all conference fullback and one of the high scorers in the conference Hack is the Big Six shotput record holder having beaten Sam Francis old mark last spring in Lincoln

The weight chart favors the Huskers altho both lineups are tentative due to the fact that senior members of both squads may be started over some of the regulars

Kenneth Shindo is slated to get the call at right end for the Huskers but the quarterback post is in doubt Senior Thurston Phelps may possibly get the nod over Sophomore George Knight Harry Hopp another sophomore who has been on the injury list since the Pitt game will be available Thursday if needed

Kansas State s backfield may be Blanke Fagler Speer and Hackney or it may include Seeyle Nieman J Brock and Briggs The probable lineups and weights of both teams

Another conference championship will be at stake when Gering invades Scottsbluff in the Western circuit Scottsbluff must win for the title while a defeat would pass the crown to Alliance Other Western loop games take Minatare to Bayard Bridgeport to Morrill and Chappell to Sidney

In the unpredictable Southeast conference Tecumseh must get past Pawnee City for a championship while if the Indians win Nebraska City automatically takes the throne

Oxford at Arapahoe

PITTSBURGH'S GRADS WIN RIGHT TO PROBE ATHLETIC SITUATION

Code Bowman Will Be Taken Apart by Alumni of the Panther School.

CLAIM POLICY BUNGLED

PITTSBURGH (UP) The wall of Pittsburgh university freshmen football players for gift scholarships got action Old grads of the great Panther teams of the past demanded—and were granted—an official investigation of a controversy which had threatened to relegate future Pitt teams to a secondary standard

University Chancellor John G Bowman announced he would investigate claims of freshmen players that they had signed promissory notes for scholarship payments as a mere formality ' only to learn last week that they were binding and must be paid either in cash or by work

Bowman s announcement followed receipt of a letter from the Pitt alumni varsity club which charged that the university s nonprofessional football policy had been bungled so badly we have to hang our heads in shame ' The letter added

We have made sufficient investigation of the facts to convince us that the freshmen athletes were brought here on certain promises of university officials and these promises have not been fulfilled

Bowman Speaks Up

Chancellor Bowman denounced the unofficial managers who are a damn nuisance before complying with the investigation demanded He said the university has never done anything unfair and that 'in case of doubt the freshmen would win Then he told the yearling athletes 'not to do anything these damn unofficial managers ask you to

The controversy arose last week when the frosh athletes complained they had been billed $150 for a half year s tuition and told by Business Manager John Weber to pay it in cash or by additional work around the campus The freshmen said they didn t have the cash couldn t carry any more work and some threatened to quit school unless they were given the athletic scholarships promised us

The freshman squad is one of the best in Pitt history and Coach Jock Sutherland had counted on it for replacements for some of his senior varsity stars

No Aid for Players

The football de emphasis program known on the campus as Code Bowman went into effect when officials announced during this semester that all such aid to athletes would be prohibited

The alumni letter assured the chancellor that the varsity club was not objecting to the Code Bowman but intimated it could be administered so as not to reflect on former Pitt athletes

Speaking before the student body Bowman denied that he was not interested in football and that he did not appreciate Coach Sutherland

I think Sutherland is a great coach he said and I want to win every football game we can'

Visited by Committee

A chamber of commerce committee which visited Bowman to urge that Pitt continue to have winning football teams for the sake of Pittsburgh was assured by the chancellor that Pitt will continue to have winning teams but that he will not permit outsiders to meddle in the school s athletic policy Dr James H Greene official of the chamber of commerce said the committee visited the chancellor to be of service if possible in quieting an embarrassing situation

Meanwhile students were to present to Coach Jock Sutherland at a rally Wednesday afternoon a testimonial book bound in leather and signed by members of the student body The Pitt team leaves for Durham N C where Saturday the Panthers play the unbeaten Duke eleven

TOMMY WALSH ILL

DETROIT (AP) Whimsical Tommy Walsh prominent figure of boxing s golden era and known from coast to coast in the fight game lay perilously ill Wednesday from a gastronomical ailment The 60 year old former manager of fighters and ballyhoo chieftain in the old Jack Dempsey Jack Kearns combination during boxing s million dollar gate period fell seriously sick after having been ill several days

NEW YORK (AP) The Thanksgiving fare was spread thinly in the stock market Wednesday and provided only enough nourishment for a meagre rally. The holiday Thursday while it tempted some closing out of speculative accounts on the bear side seemed to be one of the influences making traders play safe on the spectators benches.

There was barely enough business to keep stock tickers going much of the time altho a midday buying spurt was a help to raising transactions to about a million shares. The slow footed rally marked a change from the recent descent from the 1938 tops but brokers noted little difference in the essential characteristics of the market.

The Wall street consensus still seemed to run toward expectation of more business improvement. But analysts figured speculative markets had entered one of the intervals of uncertain drift frequent in major trends upward. A few individual performers staged most of the pre-Thanksgiving show. Dunhill International active on rumors the company would enter the popular priced cigaret field and hopes it would benefit tariff cuts in the British American trade treaty stretched its advance for more than 2 points at one time during the day.

The proposed Franco German peace pact put a rosy touch to what had generally been depicted in financial circles lately as a dark European picture. Better feeling toward the foreign situation was evident in a recovery in the British pound against the dollar interrupting the sharp fall of England's currency.

The year end dividend list was supplemented by several important declarations, including a 25 cent payment by Anaconda Copper but these actions appeared to have little effect marketwise. U S Rubber preferred which had scored a big comeback earlier in the year started only fractionally higher following the overnight announcement of payment of $4 on the stock the first dividend since 1928.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) Cotton sagged slightly under final December liquidation before first notice day Friday. Offerings were generally well taken. March sold off from 8 52 to 8 48 by midafternoon when the market was 7 to 8 points net lower. December liquidation and exchanging for later months continued active. December open interest was reduced 31 300 bales further Tuesday to 206 500 while certificated stocks available for delivery were reported at 45 654 bales at all points.

NEW YORK SUGAR

NEW YORK (AP) Raw sugar was quiet. Late Tuesday there was a combination sale of 5 700 tons of Puerto Ricos of this year's quota and 2 000 tons of over quota for early December shipment to a local refiner at 3 cents a decline of 5 points in the spot price. Most other holders continued to ask 3 0. Futures were steady as further trade covering and Cuban buying absorbed scattered commission house liquidation and hedging by producing interests. March sold at 2 00 and May 2 11 while [illegible] sold at 1 00¾ and May 1 11. [illegible] unchanged. Refined remained at 4 30 for fine granulated with a fair liquidity reported at the inside level.

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON (AP) (U S Dept Agr) Very little business was being transacted in the Boston wool market. Buyers were showing very little interest and most holders of wool were not making any effort to push sales. Quotations were steady on most kinds of domestic wools. An occasional lot of fine territory wool in original bags was reported available at prices slightly below levels at which the bulk of recent sales have been closed.

CORN DEVELOPS STRENGTH

Wheat Steadies in Sympathy After Earlier Setback

CHICAGO (AP) Jumps of about a cent a bushel in corn prices late Wednesday put some backbone into prices of all grains. Indications of a better shipping demand for corn together with evidence of improved export inquiry were stimulating factors. Purchases of corn to arrive here continued to be of scanty volume.

At the close Chicago corn futures were ⅝ to ⅞c higher compared with Tuesday's finish, Dec 47⅛@47c, May 51¼@51⅜. Wheat ¼ off to ¼ up, Dec 62½@62⅝c, May 65⅜@65½c, and oats unchanged to ⅛c advance.

Developing independent strength after midsession corn futures rose fractionally on buying credited to cash and shipping interests and to local dealers. It was reported only a small export business had been worked in corn recently but that there was further interest in the market. Some short covering developed in wheat as a result of the upturn in corn and securities and a firmer tone at Winnipeg. Interest in the flour market continued disappointing the past week altho sales increased slightly.

Official estimates pointed to 8 6 per cent increase of Argentine wheat seeding and unofficial reports said that barring possible damage from further rains the crop might total 290 000 000 bushels. This would be fully 50 000 000 bushels above the output of the 5 year 1926 30 period. On the other hand India's crops were reported as urgently needing rain and fears were expressed the wheat acreage would be reduced and considerable imports made necessary.

Overnight export purchases of 250 000 bushels of Canadian wheat were noted. Cold weather continued in domestic winter crop territory southwest but with snow falls reported at various places. The Liverpool wheat market due unchanged to ⅜c higher closed ⅛c off to ⅝c up.

Chicago receipts of corn totaled only 151 cars.

GRAIN NOTES.

CHICAGO (AP) Trade reports estimate Argentina's exportable surplus wheat from the 1938 crop at 185 000 000 to 200 000 000 bushels. This compares with 85 000 000 bushels from the preceding harvest. Latest estimates on the world's available supply for the 1938 39 season total about 5 000 000 000 bushels, 1 200 000 000 bushels in excess of prospective demand.

Visible supplies of wheat in Canada declined 2 850 878 bushels last week to 178 884 612. This compares with 69 818 760 bushels a year ago. Australia's wheat crop is estimated at 135 000 000 bushels against last year's harvest of 188 000 000.

LIVERPOOL WHEAT AND COTTON

LIVERPOOL (AP) Cotton futures moved unevenly as trade and local buying held near months steady and distant positions declined under hedging against outside growths. Final prices were 3 points higher to 2 lower.

Old wheat future contracts ended ⅛ to ½ penny higher bolstered by sale of two cargoes of Australian wheat to India and general scarcity of contracts. A bearish Argentine acreage report which weakened the entire market early finally left new months unchanged to ⅛ penny lower.

LIVESTOCK.

CHICAGO (AP) A strike of more than 500 C I O union yard workers bottled up Chicago's huge stock yards and threatened the possibility of impairment of meat packing operations in the world's greatest livestock processing center. Trading in livestock was at a standstill and there were no signs of an agreement in the labor dispute that would permit resumption of normal marketing this week. No quotations on any type of livestock were available.

About 8 000 head of livestock came into the yards 2 000 less than expected but all of these were either shipped direct to packers and did not have to go thru the usual marketing channels tied up by the strike or were intended for the International Livestock exposition which opens Saturday.

Practically everything was cleaned out of the pens during Tuesday's truce which permitted white collar workers to move approximately 60 000 head of livestock over the scales. Only a few hundred hogs owned by yard traders remained. Commission men were watering and feeding the animals they had but did not attempt to sell.

OMAHA —Omaha livestock exchange officials said the Chicago strike is having little or no effect on receipts and prices on the Omaha market. President William F Reed said some orders from the east which normally would go to Chicago have come here but not enough volume to alter the current situation.

NEBRASKA'S SOPHS FAVORED IN GAME

Army Over Navy and Panther Given Edge Over Duke This Week

BY HARRY FERGUSON.

NEW YORK (UP) The dying gasp of the season for a guy trying to pick winners of football games on Thanksgiving and Saturday:

EAST

Army Navy—The Army unless it rains and allows the Sailors to launch a destroyer.

Brown Columbia—Columbia to get going after lots of hard luck.

Fordham New York university—Fordham but this one is not as easy as it looks.

Cornell Pennsylvania—Cornell's line does it.

Holy Cross Boston college—Too close for comfort with Holy Cross having a slight edge.

MIDWEST

Kansas Missouri—Missouri in a game where the betting always should be even.

Nebraska Kansas State — Nebraska's sophomores in a surprise.

Oklahoma Oklahoma A & M - Oklahoma has the power but had better watch out for overconfidence.

SOUTH

Pittsburgh Duke—Pitt after a terrible tussle but a tie wouldn't be a surprise.

Alabama Vanderbilt—Alabama 13 Vanderbilt 7.

Tennessee Kentucky —Tennessee bowls along toward a bowl.

Auburn Florida—Auburn against a Florida team that is finally rolling.

Georgia Tech Georgia—Georgia Tech by not too much.

Tulane Louisiana State—Tulane but awfully close.

Mississippi Mississippi State—Mississippi wins an old rivalry.

SOUTHWEST

Texas Christian Southern Methodist—This is no time to start picking against TCU.

Texas Texas A & M —Texas is licked again.

Baylor Rice—Baylor bounces back after losing to Southern Methodist.

Arkansas Tulsa—Arkansas against a tough little team.

Texas Tech Marquette—Texas Tech goes on its unbeaten way.

PACIFIC COAST

Southern California UCLA — Southern California has a close shave.

Dartmouth Stanford—Dartmouth power does it.

Santa Clara Detroit—Santa Clara 19 Detroit 7.

Washington Washington State—Washington by a touchdown.

Oregon Oregon State—Oregon in one of the toughest games.

LINCOLN RESERVES FINISH UNDEFEATED

While most Capital City football fans will be pulling for the three undefeated Lincoln grid teams - Lincoln high, Bethany and the Cathedral six man crew—to bring home the bacon in their final jousts Thanksgiving day few realize that already one home eleven has finished a perfect slate.

This team is the Lincoln reserves. Altho forced to run thru an abbreviated schedule, they rang up such victories as College View 6 to 0, Beatrice reserves 25 to 0, Creighton Prep reserves, 32 to 0, Fremont reserves, 37 to 0, and Eagle 37 to 0.

The Red and Black seconds finished in a tie for first place in the Greater Lincoln league but were not qualified for the title as they could schedule only one game.

The reserves were coached by Cy Yordy who is in his second year at the Capital City high school. Along with the fact that his reserve football squad had a successful 1937 season his second team basketball crew dropped only 4 out of 15 games including a close 21 to 20 loss to Bethany which later won the state Class B championship.

The outstanding performers of this year's reserve backfield were Step Jones colored halfback who was named on the All Greater Lincoln league honor roll, Bob Weygint shifty halfback, Lawrence Vaughan quarterback and Red Christensen fullback.

In the line the season's top players were Wes Maser end, Dick Sporner tackle, Stanley Cohen chunky guard and Gilbert Keeley and Junior Copple a pair of fine centers.

NEW YORK (AP) The Thanksgiving fare was spread thinly in the stock market Wednesday and provided only enough nourishment for a meagre rally The holiday Thursday, while it tempted some closing out of speculative accounts on the bear side seemed to be one of the influences making traders play safe on the spectators benches

There was barely enough business to keep stock tickers going much of the time altho a midday buying spurt was a help to raising transactions to about a million shares The slow footed rally marked a change from the recent descent from the 1938 tops but brokers noted little difference in the essential characteristics of the market

The Wall street consensus still seemed to run toward expectation of more business improvement But analysts thought speculative markets had entered one of the intervals of uncertain drift frequent in major trends upward A few individual performers staged most of the pre Thanksgiving show Dunhill International active on rumors the company would enter the popular priced cigaret field and hopes it would benefit tariff cuts in the British American trade treaty stretched its advance for more than 2 points at one time during the day

The proposed Franco German peace pact put a rosy touch to what had generally been depicted in financial circles lately as a dark European picture Better feeling toward the foreign situation was evident in a recovery in the British pound against the dollar interrupting the sharp fall of England s currency

The year end dividend list was supplemented by several important declarations, including a 25 cent payment by Anaconda Copper but these actions appeared to have little effect marketwise U S Rubber preferred which had scored a big come back earlier in the year started only fractionally higher following the overnight announcement of payment of $4 on the stock the first dividend since 1928

Wheat Steadies in Sympathy After Earlier Setback

CHICAGO (AP) Jumps of about a cent a bushel in corn prices late Wednesday put some backbone into prices of all grains Indications of a better shipping demand for corn together with evidence of improved export inquiry, were stimulating factors Purchases of corn to arrive here continued to be of scanty volume

At the close Chicago corn futures were ⅝ to ⅞c higher compared with Tuesday s finish, Dec 47⅛@47c May 51¼@51⅜ Wheat ¼ off to ¼ up Dec 62½@62⅝c May 65⅜@65½c and oats unchanged to ⅛c advance

Developing independent strength after midsession corn futures rose fractionally on buying credited to cash and shipping interests and to local dealers It was reported only a small export business had been worked in corn recently but that there was further interest in the market Some short covering developed in wheat as a result of the upturn in corn and securities and a firmer tone at Winnipeg Interest in the flour market continued disappointing the past week altho sales increased slightly

Official estimates pointed to 8 6 per cent increase of Argentine wheat seeding and unofficial reports said that barring possible damage from further rains the crop might total 290 000 000 bushels This would be fully 50 000 000 bushels above the output of the 5 year 1926 30 period On the other hand India s crops were reported as urgently needing rain and fears were expressed the wheat acreage would be reduced and considerable imports made necessary

Overnight export purchases of 250 000 bushels of Canadian wheat were noted Cold weather continued in domestic winter crop territory southwest but with snow falls reported at various places The Liverpool wheat market due unchanged to ¼c higher closed ¼c off to ⅝c up Chicago receipts of corn totaled only 151 cars

GRAIN NOTES.

CHICAGO (AP) Trade reports estimate Argentina s exportable surplus wheat from the 1938 crop at 185 000 000 to 200 000 000 bushels This compares with 85 000 000 bushels from the preceding harvest Latest estimates on the world s available supply for the 1938 39 season total about 5 000 000 000 bushels 1 200 000 000 bushels in excess of prospective demand

Visible supplies of wheat in Canada declined 2 850 878 bushels last week to 176 884 612 This compares with 60 818 760 bushels a year ago Australia s wheat crop is estimated at 145 000 000 bushels against last year s harvest of 186 000 000

LIVERPOOL (AP) Cotton futures moved unevenly as trade and local buying held near months steady and distant positions declined under hedging against outside growths Final prices were 3 points higher to 2 lower

Old wheat future contracts ended ¼ to ½ penny higher bolstered by sale of two cargoes of Australian wheat to India and general scarcity of contracts A bearish Argentine acreage report which weakened the entire market early finally left new months unchanged to ⅛ penny lower

LIVESTOCK.

CHICAGO (AP) A strike of more than 500 C I O union yard workers bottled up Chicago s huge stock yards and threatened the possibility of impairment of meat packing operations in the world s greatest livestock processing center Trading in livestock was at a standstill and there were no signs of an agreement in the labor dispute that would permit resumption of normal marketing this week No quotations on any type of livestock were available

About 8 000 head of livestock came into the yards 2 000 less than expected but all of these were either shipped direct to packers and did not have to go thru the usual marketing channels tied up by the strike or were intended for the International Livestock exposition which opens Saturday

Practically everything was cleaned out of the pens during Tuesday s truce which permitted white collar workers to move approximately 60 000 head of livestock over the scales Only a few hundred hogs owned by yard traders remained Commission men were watering and feeding the animals but they had but did not attempt to sell

OMAHA—Omaha livestock exchange officials said the Chicago strike is having little or no effect on receipts and prices on the Omaha market President William E Reed said some orders from the east which normally would go to Chicago have come here but not enough volume to alter the current situation

While most Capital City football fans will be pulling for the three undefeated Lincoln grid teams - Lincoln high Bethany and the Cathedral six man crew—to bring home the bacon in their final jousts Thanksgiving day, few realize that already one home eleven has finished a perfect slate

This team is the Lincoln reserves Altho forced to run thru an abbreviated schedule they rang up such victories as College View, 6 to 0, Beatrice reserves 25 to 0 Creighton Prep reserves, 32 to 0 Fremont reserves 37 to 0, and Eagle 37 to 0

The Red and Black seconds finished in a tie for first place in the Greater Lincoln league but were not qualified for the title as they could schedule only one game

The reserves were coached by Cy Yordy who is in his second year at the Capital City high school Along with the fact that his reserve football squad had a successful 1937 season his second team basketball crew dropped only 4 out of 15 games including a close 21 to 20 loss to Bethany which later won the state Class B championship

The outstanding performers of this year s reserve backfield were Stan Jones colored halfback who was named on the All Greater Lincoln league honor roll Bob Weygint shifty halfback Lawrence Vaughan quarterback and Red Christensen fullback

In the line the season s top players were Wes Maser end Dick Spomer tackle Stanley Cohen chunky guard and Gilbert Kesley and Junior Copple a pair of fine centers

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND by EDWARD A. WILGAM, D.Sc.

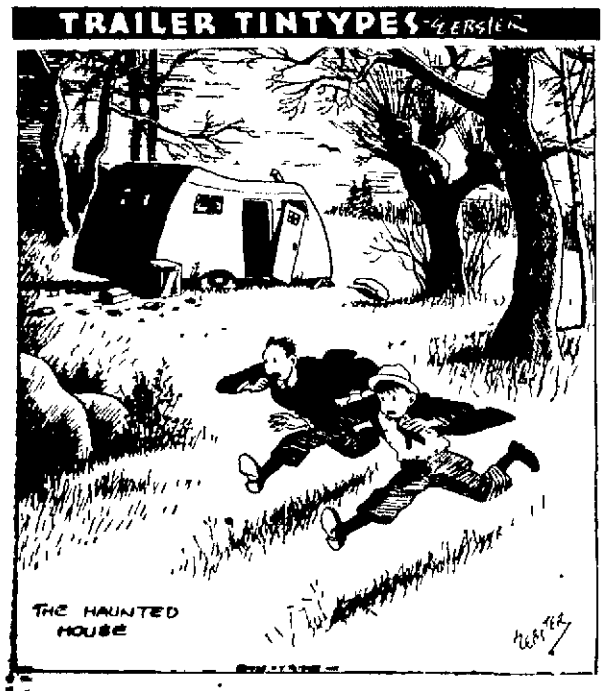

1 Dear Angry Reader you are absolutely and abundantly right College graduates have to be above the average in intelligence simply because the tasks are purposely made so hard that average persons cannot negotiate them But hosts of men who never had a chance to go to college or who did not wish to or who preferred business or industry or farming or mechanics could solve these problems if they had a chance Such men are fully the equals in intelligence not only of the average college graduates but often of the superior ones As President Conant of Harvard has urged such men and women should be discovered and if necessary put thru college at public expense

2 No There are plenty of things to be heroic about besides war Indeed modern machines have taken a good deal of heroism out of war altho there is still enough to attract adventurous volunteers Nothing requires greater heroism than the fight for social welfare honesty in government pure foods etc and to prevent racketeering false advertising political propaganda and bunko steering of the public generally All these require a high degree of both moral and physical heroism

3 No It hinders instead of helps The very effort blocks or switches off the train of thought so your mind becomes conscious of the effort itself When you say to yourself I must solve this problem or I am going to think clearly your mind shunts off from the very track you wish it to follow and gets all mixed up in the thought of trying to think

THE NEBBS

TARZAN and the ELEPHANT MEN

With determined tread Stanley Wood strode toward the mysterious city of Ivory Somewhere he believed beneath those shining domes and stately spires was his beloved Gonfala a prisoner perhaps But whatever dangers lay ahead he would brave them .

At this moment Tarzan of the Apes who had followed a trail parallel to Wood's stood on a high plateau His searching eyes looked down upon Cathne the city of gold whose citizens were hereditary enemies of those who dwelt in Athne the city of Ivory

The apeman's mind was deluged by waves of memory—memory of his previous visit to Cathne Then he had been imprisoned he had fought in the arena he had escaped by a hair's breadth from death in the holy volcano At every turn he had been imperiled

In those days Nemone the beautiful but cruel queen had ruled But now Tarzan mused Nemone was dead His own friends were in power and he had helped to put them there, so he would be welcome in Cathne His confidence however was soon to be dispelled
